MISSING
ON COLLISIONS
OF JAPANESE WARSHIPS

Run Down the Destroyers
Warasi and Ashi in Night
Maneuvers.

WARASI GOES DOWN,
ONLY 22 SURVIVORS

Master Occurs Off Naval Base of Maizuru During Sham Attack on Fleet by Smaller Vessels.

By the Associated Press.
TOKYO, Aug. 25.—Four Japanese warships, cruising at full speed with lights out, were involved last night in two collisions in which it is thought 129 lives were lost, according to dispatches from the Imperial Japanese Navy.

The cruiser Jintsu struck the destroyer Warasi, which sank in 10 minutes with the reported loss of 102 members of her crew. The cruiser Naka collided with the destroyer Ashi, 27 men being reported killed.

Maizuru is on Wakasa Bay, a part of the Japan Sea.
Reports were that the Jintsu's bow was so badly damaged that the cruiser Kongo had to tow her to port.

The Naka cut through the Ashi's stern.
The Naka was not seriously damaged and proceeded to port after emergency repairs were made. But the Ashi was towed in by the cruiser Takatsuki.

Prince Hiroshi Fushimi, son of Admiral Prince Hirofumi, a lieutenant in the navy, was aboard the Naka when the collision occurred, but was not hurt.

A navy spokesman said the fleet, having completed its main maneuvers of the Bungo Straits, during which the explosion aboard the cruiser Jintsu occurred on Aug. 1, with the loss of 23 men and 47 wounded, was returning to its base at Maizuru, conducting measures for protection against night attacks by destroyers. The night was moonless and the warships, with all lights out, were moving ahead at full speed, when the destroyer Jintsu launched its attack.

The Warasi and Ashi apparently were attempting to cut across the bows of the oncoming warships, which were unable to change their course in time to avoid the collisions.

LONE AVIATOR HOPS OFF ON 4600-MILE NON-STOP GEORGIA TO BRAZIL FLIGHT

Paul Redfern Leaves Brunswick at 12:46 P.
M. and Expects to Reach Brazilian Territory Within 50 Hours.

By the Associated Press.
BRUNSWICK, Ga., Aug. 25.—
Paul Redfern, 25-year-old aviator, started at 12:46 p. m. today on his 4600-mile nonstop flight to Brazil.
He is flying a Stinson-Detrolter monoplane called Port of Brunswick. He took off from the beach at Glynn Isle. He is flying alone.
When the Port of Brunswick rose gracefully in the air a cheer burst spontaneously from the spectators. This was followed by silence as the aviator headed out to sea. He flew only a few feet above the surface of the ocean.
As the monoplane became a speck on the horizon, then vanished, Mrs. Redfern collapsed into the arms of friends and gave way to the emotion which she had masked with a smile as she said good-bye.

Rio de Janeiro, the Brazilian capital, 4600 miles away, is his objective. Redfern hopes at least to make Pernambuco, a Brazilian port city several hundred miles north of Rio. He will try for long-distance and endurance records. He hopes to be the first to make a non-stop flight between the United States and Brazil.

The first leg of his course lies over 2400 miles of ocean.
From Glynn Isle beach his course lies east of the Bahamas to cross the southwestern corner of Porto Rico, passing over Port Guanica lighthouse, thence over the Caribbean Sea, passing near Grenada Islands, to Rio de Janeiro.

Reaching the South American continent in Dutch Guiana. At Macapa, on the north bank of the Amazon, he expects to decide whether to turn to Pernambuco, northeast of Rio, or continue to the Brazilian capital.

"If I drop a green flag, everything is fine and I am going on to Rio, but if I drop a red flag, it means that I expect to land at Per-nambuco," Redfern said. His decision would be determined by gasoline supply and weather conditions.

Information from Brazil is that there are no places where an airplane can land except at Pernambuco and perhaps Para, before reaching Rio de Janeiro. If forced to land elsewhere in Brazil it would probably be in the jungle, whence Redfern might never escape.

Redfern expects to arrive at some Brazilian city within 50 hours. Nevertheless, he is carrying about five pounds of food, much of it in concentrated form, which the dietitian who prepared it estimates to be sufficient for two weeks. The food is packed in a waterproof bag which can be converted into a rain jacket by ripping the threads from the bottom of the bag.

In addition, Redfern has a rifle, fishhooks, knife and matches, so that he thinks he could keep himself fairly well fed indefinitely should he be compelled to make a forced landing. He also has a small distilling apparatus to provide water.

ported today to the State Department.

Miss Anderson died last night in a hospital at Mazatlan, where she had been taken for an operation, said the message from J. Winsor
Ives, American vice consul there.
It was not stated whether Miss Anderson had died before or after the operation. She had been shot in the left side, the bullet piercing her intestines.

Representations have been made by Ives to the Governor and military authorities of the state of Nayarit, in which the attack took place, seeking the capture and punishment of the bandits, said to

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The death of Miss Florence M. Andertla, Mexico, Tuesday, was reported today to the State Department.

Miss Anderson died last night in

said the message from J. Winsor

The American Embassy at Mexico City today advised the State Department it had made "appropriate representations" to the Mexican Government for the apprehension and punishment of the bandits.

Miss Anderson, a Pomona, Cal., high school teacher and a University of Colorado graduate, was shot in the left side, and was taken to Mazatlan, where she was returning to California after attending a summer lecture course at the National University of Mexico City.

The attack on the train, which occurred Tuesday, was participated in by several hundred men. Miss Anderson was the only one of 11
Americans injured, although Ives advised the State Department that the number of dead and wounded was estimated as high as 15.

While awaiting more detailed information, the department is said to be prepared to make representations to the Mexican Government through diplomatic channels, if negligence by the authorities in the pursuit of the bandits is apparent. However, the Washington government will take no action pending word to the contrary, assuming proper steps are being taken by the Mexican authorities.

GUNMAN AND LAWYER SHOT TO DEATH BY GANG IN AUTO

Benjamin Giamanco Killed —Aloys F. Beelman, Bystander, Fatally Wounded
at 116 N. Sixth St.

ASSASSINS FLEE,
CHASED BY POLICE

"Benny the Wop" Had Said He Would Avenge Russo and Spicuzza, Murdered in Chicago.

The Cuckoo-Italian gang feud, in which 13 men were murdered and 14 wounded last year, has been renewed, police believe, with the assassination last night in downtown
St. Louis of Benjamin Giamanco, notorious gunman, and Aloys F.
Beelman, a lawyer and innocent bystander.

Unarmed and holding a tooth-pick in a hand that often held a pistol, Giamanco walked out of the Lyric Coffee Pot at 116 North Sixth street, between Pine and Chestnut streets, at 11 o'clock, when adjacent theaters were letting out hundreds of the street. In front of the restaurant he stopped to chat with several companions.

An automobile occupied by three men came south in Sixth and slowed down. The motorist sat next to the driver leaned out, aimed an automatic pistol at Giamanco and fired four times.
Giamanco, wounded three times in the chest and abdomen, fell to the sidewalk as his companions ran away. Thus died the gangster known to police as "Benny the Wop" or "Melon Head."

Beelman shot in head.
Attorney Beelman, who sat on the first stool at the lunch counter drinking a cup of coffee, was struck in the right temple by the fourth bullet. He died an hour and 25 minutes later at city hospital without regaining consciousness.

The murderers' car sped south to Chestnut, turned west on two wheels, and was out of sight before most witnesses knew what it was all about.

Two detectives in a police car, who had passed the restaurant a few minutes previously and were at Sixth and Market streets, gave ineffectual chase.

Witnesses asserted that there were three men in the automobile, but some said the car was a Hudson coupe. One witness gave police a license number, which proved to be Gismaco's for a Hudson coupe owned by a woman friend of a Cuckoo gangster. This gangster, who had been under arrest until 4
a. m. yesterday, is being sought.

The murderers' car was followed,
according to one witness, by a roadster driven by a woman. This witness said a man on the sidewalk shouted to the woman: "Get Al and tell him to tell the gang to get out of town."

Police Hound Up Gangsters.
Submachine guns which have been idle in police stations since the Cuckoo-Italian armistice was effected last autumn were rearranged for deployment. Automobiles as police set out to round up all known gangsters.

One of the first to be arrested was Milton Jones, Cuckoo gangster, who was ordered out of New Orleans Aug. 12 after having been held in an investigation of the murder there last April of Ted Werner, gambling impresario, formerly of St. Louis. Jones, eating supper at the restaurant in Union Station when arrested, protested that he had just arrived in St.
Louis. He gave as his address 104
North Fourteenth street, the Cuckoo hangout.

12 KILLED NEAR LONDON IN WRECK OF HOLIDAY TRAIN

48 Others Seriously Injured When Engine and Coaches Jump Tracks — Heavy Rain Blamed.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Aug. 25.—Twelve persons were killed and 48 injured, 24 of the latter seriously, in the wreck of a Southern Railway train 20 miles from here last evening, an official revision of the casualties showed today. Four bodies were still unidentified today. Among the slightly injured were Lord and Lady Lewisham. They were able to leave the hospital after treatment.

The train was crowded with holiday excursionists.
There was no official explanation of the wreck, but it is believed the heavy rain of recent weeks softened the rail-bed, causing the rails to spread. The accident occurred between Dutton Green and Venoaks, Kent, half an hour after the train had left London for Deal.

While traveling at high speed, the train began to rock, then left the rails. The engine buried its nose in a wayside bank.

STEALS 26 AUTOS BY PICKING LOCKS WITH FINGERNAIL

14-Year-Old Francis Tatham Confesses Car Thefts and Participation in 10 Holdups.

ESCAPED FROM KANSAS PRISON

Youth, Large for Age, Names East St. Louis Man as Confederate—2 Brothers Also Arrested.

A 14-year-old boy, Francis Tatham, of 224 Cass avenue, arrested yesterday, has admitted, police report today, that he stole 26 Ford automobiles by picking the ignition locks with a long fingernail. He also confessed participation in 10 holdups since June 1.

Francis, who is large for his age and wears long trousers, showed detectives an inch and a half long nail on the little finger of his left hand. He said it was no trick at all to open a Ford ignition lock by inserting the finger nail in the keyhole and turning over the switch.

Confederate Also Confesses. He named as his confederate Forest Page, 23 years old, a painter of 1023 Trembley avenue, East St. Louis, who, police announced, also has confessed. Young Tatham's brothers, Theodore, 24, and Edward, 23, were taken in custody charged with receiving stolen property.

Francis Tatham's theft of a motor cycle from Edward Sefer of 1946 Cass avenue led to his undoing. Witnesses saw him take the motor cycle and give his description to police. Detectives Abbott, Eganreither and Teeter arrested the boy at Jefferson avenue and Olive street yesterday afternoon. They recovered the motor cycle in possession of Tatham's brothers.

Escaped From Reformatory. It developed that Francis Tatham is an escaped prisoner from the Kansas State Reformatory at Topeka, following his being sentenced to a year's term there last July for stealing an automobile. He remained at the reformatory only a week and walked away from a planning mill where he was employed.

Francis told detectives that he and Page joined forces June 4. Prior to that time he has been an automobile thief and had stolen about a dozen cars. Their first act was to steal a Ford coupe which they used in the holdups. In the auto they stole they stole Ford cars and after stripping them and selling the equipment in East St. Louis the machines usually were abandoned.

On July 22 he and Page decided to visit Denver, Colo. They left in the Ford coupe but at Topeka, Kan., young Tatham decided to steal a Ford roadster. Page went on in the coupe and Tatham followed in a stolen roadster. He got caught at Ellis, Kan., however and was returned to Topeka. Page going on to Denver alone.

Police Trace Stolen Cars. Following Francis' escape from the reformatory and return to St. Louis Page also came back. He told detectives he threw his pistol in the Mississippi River and decided to go straight. He admitted he had been "on the racket" for about a year.

Police are tracing the thefts and holdups in an effort to recover more stolen goods. They also are searching for an Italian boy who was Francis' confederate after he separated from Page.

HOLDUP IN OFFICE OF DAIRY CONCERN FOILED BY EMPLOYEES. Three Armed Robbers Flee Empty Handed When Unable to Open Safe.

Three men with drawn revolvers entered the office of the St. Louis Dairy Co., at 1310 North Kingshighway last yesterday and, covering two young women employees and three men together, opened cement sacks with the command: "Fill 'em up." One of the employees told the robbers all the money was in the office safe and that no one there at the time knew how to open it.

The men ran from the place to an automobile parked in the rear, at the wheel of which a fourth man sat, and made their escape. It was not known how much money was in the safe, police were told.

Henry Komar, of 4916 Labadie avenue, reported to police that at 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, two men stopped him at Taylor and Labadie avenues and, after beating him, robbed him of 90 cents. While the family of Henry Calhoun, of 7458 Clayton avenue was absent yesterday, some one entered by forcing a rear window and stole jewelry valued at $500.

Former Missionary Appointed. The Rev. Reuben A. Torrey Jr., who was a Presbyterian missionary in China up to the time of the Nationalist uprising, has been appointed secretary for the Southern District in this country of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. It was announced today. The Rev. Mr. Torrey will have offices in St. Louis, taking over the work of J. M. Patterson, who is ill.

Slain Gunman and Unintended Victim

BENJAMIN GIANMANCO.

ALOYS F. BEELMAN.

GUNMAN, LAWYER SHOT TO DEATH IN GANG WAR FLAREUP

St. Louis, had been shot to death on a Chicago street in the same manner Gianmanco was killed. Gianmanco, recently announced, police say, that he intended to avenge the killing of Russo and Spicuzza, and to take over Russo's role of chief gunman of the Italian faction. "I'll make those Cuckoos jump," Gianmanco was quoted as saying.

Gianmanco Arrested 30 Times. He was well qualified as a gunman. He had been arrested 30 times, often for pistol-toting. He asserted his life had been threatened since his brothers, Tony and Frank, were shot to death seven and five years ago, respectively. He married the widow of his brother, Frank, and lived with her, a small daughter and his brother's two children at 1132 North Eighth street.

Records show he was fined $50 for shoplifting and $100 for carrying a concealed weapon several years ago; was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $500 on March 1, for carrying a weapon, and was sentenced to 10 years in prison May 12, 1926, for a criminal attack on a 14-year-old girl. He was out on appeal bond in these two cases. He was 24 years old. Row Over "Protection Money." The Cuckoo-Italian feud in which Gianmanco was involved had its origin in excessive demands for "protection money" made by Cuckoo gangsters on Italian moonshiners on the East Side. Resistance to the Cuckoos was offered by friends and hired gunmen of the bootleggers.

Beelman, the lawyer, was 30 years old, unmarried and roomed at 2755 North Garrison avenue. He was the eldest of nine children. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beelman, live at 2314A North Fourteenth street. He served with the Army on the Mexican border in 1916, and subsequently went to a Government sanitarium in New Mexico to recover his health. He studied law at a Government vocational training school at Nauvoo, Ill., and at Washington University, from which he was graduated, completing his education with funds obtained by working as a policeman. He was a member of the police department from Sept. 23, 1924, until Jan. 15, 1926.

Lately he was associated with James A. Riley in the practice of law, with offices in the Buder Building. He handled some criminal cases.

The scene of last night's shooting is a half block from the corner of Sixth and Chestnut streets, where gangs between the Egan and Hogan gangs broke out. March 11, 1921, when John P. Sweeney was shot to death and Max Greenberg wounded.

"The police drive on gangsters will be accentuated as a result of last night's killings," Chief of Police Gerck said. "St. Louis is no place for gangsters and they will have to go elsewhere. We won't tolerate gangsters even if the courts discharge those arrested."

Watchdog Poisoned, House Robbed. An Alameda dog left by Mrs. Marie Bush to guard her home at 1126 Pestalozzi street while she was on a visit to Texas was found dead of poison when a neighbor visited the place yesterday to feed the animal. The house had been ransacked.

FUNERAL OF SACCO AND VANZETTI TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Cortege to Pass Boston Common and Statehouse—Bodies Lie in State at Undertaking Rooms.

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Until Sunday the bodies of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti will lie in state in a small funeral establishment in the Italian section of Boston. The undertaker agreed to remove religious emblems. The bodies will be taken there this afternoon.

Efforts to obtain a hall where the bodies of the Radicals who were executed for murder might lie in state failed. The owners of the building housing the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee had a two-by-four joist nailed upright in the doorway to prevent a casket entering the building.

Better success attended the efforts of the defense committee to extend the burial time limit to Sunday from Friday, the limit provided by city ordinance. The bodies will be borne at the head of a funeral procession Sunday past the State House to Boston Common, thence to Forest Hills for cremation. The Common and the State House were the scenes of the arrest of scores of Sacco sympathizers prior to the execution. The place of burial of the ashes of Sacco is unannounced but those of Vanzetti will be returned to Italy by his sister.

Letter to Ford Made Public. A letter thanking Henry Ford for his suggestion of commutation of the death sentence, written by Vanzetti two days before the execution, has been made public. The letter emphasized that Vanzetti would die affirming his innocence (as he did) and saying that the reason he hoped for a commutation was that with added length of life he believed it would be proved that he was not guilty.

Meanwhile discussion has apparently arisen between the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee and the Citizens National Committee for Sacco and Vanzetti over the plans of the latter for a national conference in New York Aug. 27 and 28 for the purpose of organizing a movement to clear Sacco and Vanzetti of the crime for which they died and to provide a memorial for them.

A statement to the Boston Advertiser by Aldo Feliciani, founder of the original defense committee, gave first intimation of discussion. The paper quotes Feliciani as declaring that the defense committee "does not recognize the Citizens National Committee" and that its (the National Committee's) action in calling a National Sacco conference is regarded by the defense committee as "an unwarranted and ill-timed impertinence."

"So-Called Intellectuals' Assault." "The Defense Committee," Feliciani is quoted as saying, "wishes it to be distinctly understood that it is in no way a party to the plan of the so-called intellectuals and does not approve."

"The defense committee fought for Sacco and Vanzetti for seven years, only to have much of its work undone in the last few weeks by many who came rushing in solely for the purpose of self-aggrandizement and to bask in the spotlight of publicity. Its work was nearly done when Sacco and Vanzetti were executed. Its work will be done when they are buried and a memorial to them has been erected. The defense committee, at present, is interested only in plans for their burial."

The national committee headquarters declined to comment on the statement.

Miss Luigia Vanzetti has announced that she will return the ashes of her brother to his native soil, possibly passing through London, Paris and other European cities on her way to Italy.

Blames Lagging Court System for Sacco-Vanzetti Apitiation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 23.—Responsibility for much of the agitation and protest over the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti was placed by United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle of New York upon the American system of criminal procedure which permits a case to drag through the courts.

Madison Square Garden Closed to Sacco-Vanzetti Memorial.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—Madison Square Garden in New York will not be available for a Sacco-Vanzetti memorial next Saturday, Tex Rickard, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, announced through Miss Naomi Lowensohn, last night. An application for the use of the Garden where the ashes of the two radicals could lie in state was sent Rickard from New York.

WOMAN, 65, KILLED ON RETURN FROM GRANDSON'S RITES

Mrs. Ella Hammond of East St. Louis Dies and Daughter and Son-in-Law Are Hurt.

Mrs. Ella Hammond, 65 years old, of Washington Park, East St. Louis, was killed in an automobile collision near Vincennes, Ind., yesterday afternoon, while returning from the funeral of her 16-year-old grandson, who had been shot to death accidentally by his brother last Sunday.

In the machine with Mrs. Hammond were her daughter, Mrs. Lily Chaney, and the daughter's husband, Jesse Chaney, of 1308 Cleveland avenue, East St. Louis, who also were injured in the crash. Orville Holland of Decker, Ind., driver of the other machine, was uninjured.

The collision took place about five miles south of Vincennes, on the State highway by which the funeral party was returning to East St. Louis. Mrs. Hammond was hurled against the top of the machine. She was taken to a Vincennes hospital, where she died within an hour.

Clifford Hammond, the grandson whose funeral Mrs. Hammond had attended, was accidentally killed last Sunday by his brother, Lawrence, who had been shooting blackbirds near the Hammond home at 4500 St. Clair avenue. Returning to the house, he pointed the gun at Clifford, believing it to be unloaded. He pulled the trigger and Clifford was shot in the abdomen.

Members of the Hammond family are in Vincennes today, making arrangements for Mrs. Hammond's funeral. It is expected she will be buried beside the grave of her grandson at Mount Carmel.

Auto Struck by Street Car Crashes at Eleventh Street and Franklin Avenue Last Night.

An automobile struck by a street car at Eleventh street and Franklin avenue last night, crashed into the plate-glass window of the Franklin Furniture Co., at 1039 Franklin avenue. The automobile was driven by Sylvester Owens, a Negro, of 714A West street. His wife, Lucile, was internally injured and cut and bruised.

Mrs. Anna Stueffell of 3643 Minnesota avenue was seriously injured last night when struck by a machine driven by Joseph Farmer of Kirkwood on Gravois avenue, near city limits. Mr. Stueffell was taken to St. Anthony's hospital and treated for fractured ribs and severe lacerations.

Tricked Okawville Mayor. Moran and three of his confederates were charged with swindling William G. Frank, mayor of Okawville, Ill., of $25,000 in Liberty bonds. They gained his interest by negotiating for Frank's health resort at Okawville, then confided to him the details of a big stock selling scheme in which they were to unload upon a holding syndicate. After buying a mass of worthless certificates, Frank found himself in a Chicago hotel, waiting for a buyer who did not keep his appointment.

Related swindles were those in which Metcalf of Alton lost $20,000; L. B. Trotter of Jacksonville, $14,450; Conrad Greissner, former Springfield brewer, $16,000; Louis Brovnerman of Pana, $20,300; and Louis Buescher of Danvers, $11,500.

One of Moran's accomplices, Frank Adam Reed, also a veteran, pleaded guilty here to a part in the swindles, and was sent to Leavenworth prison for a year and a half. Moran resisted removal from Illinois, but was brought to St. Louis last April and gave bond to appear on the first day of the fall term of Federal Court, Sept. 19.

Two other accomplices of Moran, Walter and Luther Sanderson, addresses of his son.

NEW CASE AGAINST 'CHAPPIE' MORAN, CONFIDENCE MAN

Here Accused of $14,000 Real Estate Fraud at Springfield, Ill.

"Chaplie" Moran, veteran confidence man, who is under $10,000 bond to appear in Federal Court here Sept. 19 on a charge of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, is under a new charge of fraud in Springfield, Ill., based on a $14,000 transaction in Peoria real estate. He gave bond in Springfield yesterday to appear for a hearing there Sept. 7.

More than 30 years ago, Moran was banished from St. Louis by a police order. Later, when he was permitted to remain here for a time, detectives kept him under such close surveillance that he could not pursue his profession of entertainer to men whom he met in hotels and elsewhere.

"I'm an entertainer," he was wont to say. "People have paid me as high as $3500 for a few minutes' entertainment."

Only Once in Prison. His methods of gainful entertaining changed with the years. At one time he was connected with the fake footcures and the system of bets thereon, by which thousands were taken from trustful enthusiasts. He was a chief figure in the wire-tapping swindle, based on the pretense that telephone wires carrying horse race results had been tapped, and that his patrons could place bets on races already run, before the results were posted.

Scientist Predicts Life 'Span of 90 to 125 Years

Pharmaceutical Speaker, Differing From Bernard Shaw's Theory, Bases Hopes Chiefly on Gland Therapy.

Can the average lifetime be extended to 90, 100 or even 125 years? And would that contribute anything to happiness, or whatever it is that the man and the race live for? Or would every centenarian be fed up with life, a bore to himself and everyone else, and a world of centenarians the worst of all possible worlds?

Dr. Albert Schneider devoted 10 minutes of today's scientific session of the American Pharmaceutical Association, in convention at Hotel Coronado, to the subject which Bernard Shaw requires six evenings in the theater to discuss. Dr. Schneider has written on every thing from birds and flowers to the limitations of knowledge, is dean of North Pacific School of Pharmacy and a summer lecturer on crime detection at the University of California.

Different Angle From Shaw's. He approached the subject at an angle different from Shaw's in "Back to Methuselah." Shaw believes that evolution is directed by not only outside stimuli, but an inner urge, the "life force" en route from an original "vortex in pure force" to an ultimate "vortex in pure intelligence." As the next step toward that consummation, he theorized that the life force might extend human life by a biological "sport," or mutation—a few men and women who would live 300 years, while everyone else dropped off the usual three score and ten.

Dr. Schneider suggested no such sudden and radical change. He dealt with an extension of life by means already somewhat familiar—eugenic mating, deliberate perpetuation of hereditary longevity, treatment by glands or gland products, and easy, happy, contented living.

Warding Off Decrepitude. The normal span of today, he said, reached the highest physical and mental efficiency between 30 and 40 and declined to a period of decrepitude from 60 to 80. Some scientists considered that protein and gland therapy would make the burn brighter but faster, maintaining a higher efficiency almost to 60 years than that of the young man at 30 today, but burning out shortly thereafter.

"Most physicians familiar with the subject," he said, believed the lifetime could be increased to 90 years, with full activity extending well beyond 70, while a lifetime of 125 years was "suggested by optimists." He believed any of the three desirable, if only for cutting off the period of decrepitude.

Renewing operations like the gland transplantations of Steinach and Voronoff were becoming less favored now, he said, than injections of crushed glands. He cited a record of 80 per cent effectiveness to date and no bad results in 50,000 injection operations in this country in the last decade.

Advantages of Rejuvenation. "The social consequences of the rejuvenating operations of the Stanley (injection) type," he continued, "may be stated as follows: 'Invalidism will be markedly decreased.' 'Competition in business, science and sex will be prolonged, and the period from 40 to 75 will be useful and happy.' 'The now highly active though ill-directed behavioristic reactions of the younger generation (15 to 20 years) can be more wisely directed by the richer and fuller experience of the still active older generation. The old man will be more valuable to society than the young man because of greater learning, wider experience and broader vision.' 'In the domain of marriage, the older man will have the advantage over the younger man by virtue of greater poise, more stable social position and greater wealth. The marriageable age can be greatly advanced, from 20 to 40 years.' 'High Plane of Existence.' 'Science, art, music and literature will develop to a much higher plane, and in turn the coming generation can begin to build upon this higher, more substantial and more lasting plane.' 'There will be more leisure and greater opportunity to enjoy the pleasures and the comforts of life. The time for acquiring culture and for laying a more enduring foundation for a career will be much increased.' 'The dread, so demoralizing in its effects, of being shelled at 60 will no longer exist, as the realization that life from early childhood to ripe old age will be free from suffering and disease, and that there will be a constant intellectual and spiritual growth and development, will be a joyful anticipation at all times.'"

He said that the realization that life from early childhood to ripe old age will be free from suffering and disease, and that there will be a constant intellectual and spiritual growth and development, will be a joyful anticipation at all times.

DETECTIVE'S 'HUNCH' LEADS TO STOLEN RING

Girl Who Admits Taking Stone Worth $2000 Arrested at Dance.

A burglary was solved and a stolen $2000 diamond ring was recovered last night on the Forest Park Highlands dance floor, where Detective Sergeant Joseph Wren went on a "hunch" in the course of an investigation.

Detectives were inquiring at the time into a rooming house burglary at 4063 Westminster place in which Mrs. James Nally had been robbed of a two-carat diamond ring and her husband of $20. The thief, it appeared, had gained entrance with a key which had been left hanging outside the door for Nally while his wife and Mrs. Agnes McCutcheon, proprietor of the rooming house, were at picture show.

It also appeared that the room of Miss Loretta Brunkhorst, 23-year-old milliner, had been robbed. She had reported that a ring valued at $200 was missing. Last night, when Wren and his men went to the place for further information about the robbery, Mrs. Nally told them Miss Brunkhorst had gone to Forest Park Highlands.

"Maybe she was the one that copped the rings," said Wren. "It looked like an inside job anyhow. If she took it, she'll probably be wearing it to make a show with her date."

At the Highlands the detectives quickly picked out Miss Brunkhorst on the dance floor.

One of them, she admitted, when Wren called her from the floor, was Mrs. Nally's two-carat ring, which, the young woman said, "fascinated me until I had to have it." Another of the rings was the one she had reported stolen.

"Just wait until everybody was out," she was quoted by detectives as saying. "Then I used the key left out for Mr. Nally to get in. I took only $4 in cash and not $50, like he said. Afterwards I threw things around in my room to make it look like I was robbed, too. These other four rings I was wearing are my own. They were given to me."

Held for Pure Food Law Violation. P. J. Prentzel, a butcher, of 5481 North Euclid avenue, is charged with violation of the State Pure Food law in a warrant issued yesterday by the Prosecuting Attorney's office. Prentzel was arrested last Monday after State inspectors had seized unfit beef and veal in his establishment.

Estell Arnold, Who Signed Own Bond, Accused of Carelessness and Intoxication.

When Estell Arnold, 1913 Franklin avenue, failed to answer on his bond in Police Court today to face three charges of careless driving and a fourth charge of driving when intoxicated, Judge Beck fined him $2000—$500 on each count. Those in the courtroom thought there was little chance of collection.

An automobile driven by Arnold collided with two automobiles and a wagon at Eighteenth and Morgan streets, injuring the occupants. Aug. 10. Police reported Arnold was driving about 40 miles an hour and smelled of liquor. Arnold, unable to obtain a bondsman, remained in jail until the following day, when he was permitted to sign his own bond.

DRY RAIDERS MOP UP DE SOTO MAIN STREET

Five Saloons Visited; Owners Arrested When Beer and Whisky Are Found.

A jovial individual appeared in De Soto last week, made the round of the better known bars, bought drinks freely and cracked jokes with the bartenders. He returned to De Soto yesterday, in company of Deputy Prohibition Administrator James Dillon and a squad of agents, and led a raid resulting in the arrest of five main street liquor dealers and the seizure of several gallons of whisky and cases of home brew.

The agents arrested William Christopher, owner of a saloon at 102 South Main street, after seizing whisky, beer and wine in his place; Jess Scott, owner of a saloon at Easton street and South Main street; Michael Fleming, saloonkeeper at 316 North Main street; George Hatcher and Albert Eichelberger, owner and bartender, respectively, at the Commercial Hotel bar, also on Main street.

A search warrant had been obtained for another saloon, but the address was wrong, so the agents raided the bakery of John Christ, at 306 North Main street. They found a small amount of liquor in a bottle, and ordered the baker to report in St. Louis today.

The five other men were brought to St. Louis and arraigned before United States Commissioner Atkins today, being held under bonds of $1000 each. All are charged with possession and sale of liquor.

BABY FOUND IN WEED PATCH
While walking through a vacant lot near Seventy-seventh and West Main streets, Belleville, yesterday afternoon, Oscar Roth, a caddy at the St. Clair County Club, near by, found a baby boy, wrapped in a blanket, lying in the tall grass behind a billboard.

The infant is about 10 days old and has dark hair and eyes. The child apparently had been placed there during the morning. Police took the baby to the St. Clair County Detention Home. There were no marks on its clothing or on the blanket by which police were able to trace its parents.

SERVICE CAR FEE OPPOSED
Service car drivers will write down University City as a good place to stay out of unless that municipality rescinds the ordinance charging every service car driver a license fee of $25 and forcing him to be bonded for at least $2000, according to Andrew U.

tendorfer, president of the St. Louis Service Car Association.

On Sept. 1, the date the ordinance becomes effective, Uttendorfer said, service car drivers will stop their cars at Skinner road and will not venture farther west until an "understanding" has been reached with University City officials.

WOMEN ATTACK MINERS, GUARDS IN OHIO LABOR WAR

Non-Union Men, Escorted by Sheriff and 8 Deputies, Stoned, Bitten and Pelted With Rotten Eggs.

By the Associated Press.
MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 23.—New disorders have occurred here as a result of ill feeling between union sympathizers and Belmont county coal mine operators who are determined to reopen their mines with non-union labor.

Between 50 and 75 women swooped down on 15 non-union workmen who were being escorted by Sheriff Hardesty and eight deputies to the Florence mine and buried stones and rotten eggs, entered into a "free for all" scuffle and occasionally did some biting.

Monday three mine officials were assaulted by 100 men and women and one of the officials was knocked unconscious.

In the disorder yesterday several persons suffered minor injuries, and a deputy sheriff was seriously bitten. The attack ended when the sheriff and his deputies drew their cudgels and charged.

Five persons, four of them women, are held as a result of the two disorders. Josephine Holwick, Catherine Niska and Margaret Lupski were arrested yesterday, and William Brown and Elizabeth Kenya face charges of violating a Federal Court restraining order and of inciting a riot in connection with Monday's outbreak.

LABOR CHIEF HALTS MARCH OF 1000 ON NON-UNION MINE IN OHIO

By the Associated Press.
ATHENS, O., Aug. 23.—Attempted invasion of the non-union coal mines of Middleport and Pomeroy by several hundred union sympathizers was halted today by quick action of union officials who feared the demonstration might lead to violence.

Starting in the Sunday Creek valley near Glouster with 400 union sympathizers, the caravan picked up several hundred more as it proceeded southward through the county until the throng, carried in automobiles and headed by a drum corps, was estimated to have numbered 1000 men, women and children when it was stopped.

Oral Daugherty, president of the sub-district miners' union, headed off the party before it crossed the Athens-Meigs county border. He induced the crowd to turn back and it was quickly dispersed.

The "march" was started with the idea of persuading a number of former Athens County union miners, now working in non-union mines in Meigs county, to quit and join the fight against operators who are in disagreement with the union over the wage scale.

CITY CANNOT CLAIM $85,000 EXCESS FARES PAID TO U. R.
City Counselor's Office Also Expresses Opinion State Has No Right to Seek Money.

An opinion rendered today by the City Counselor's office to the Comptroller holds that the city has no right to claim the excess fares collected by the United Railways during the period of the tentative 7½ cent and 8 cent fares last February.

The Attorney-General's office has moved to claim the sum, estimated at $85,000, for the State Treasury, and the Comptroller inquired whether the city would have any ground to claim the amount.

The opinion, written by Associate Counselor R. S. Bull, expresses the view that the State also has no claim on the money. The Supreme Court has held, Bull says, that the claim of a passenger to a refund of excess fare is a private right, not subject of enforcement by the State.

Referring to sections of law under which the Attorney-General is operating, the opinion held that these could not be construed as giving the city a claim.

Receipts for the excess fare were given by conductors only to passengers who demanded them, and at most passengers neglected to ask for them, only a small sum was returned after the Public Service Commission restored the former fare. The controversy does not apply to the present 7½ and 8 cent fare, which has been duly authorized.

2 MEN AND WOMAN ARRESTED FOR OPERATING PUNCHBOARDS
Cigar Store Owner, Drug Store Proprietor and Cashier Give Bond.

Two men and a woman were arrested yesterday in the beginning of a campaign the police intend waging against operation of punchboards in the city. The men were Adolph J. Sinwell, proprietor of the City Hall Drug Store, Twelfth and Pine streets, and Andrew Halloran, proprietor of a cigar stand in the Landreth Building, Fourth and Locust streets. Miss Gladys Stephens, cashier in the cigar store, was arrested after she is alleged to have sold several chances on a board to visiting policemen.

Miracles?

Astronomy had its beginning in astrology; chemistry had its beginning in alchemy, with men seeking to make gold. Science has corrected many fallacious beliefs, and from mistakes has wrought wonders far more marvelous than the miracles so eagerly sought.

Since the days of the ancient Phoenicians, traders have used exaggerations and extravagant representations of merit and value to circulate their wares.

Scientific merchandising and modern advertising have replaced these old methods with honesty and sincerity. Stix, Baer & Fuller, in common with other leaders in this new era, have substituted confidence for trickery. We believe that it is fairer and better business to have you form your own judgment, unprejudiced by misleading representations—and

WOMEN ATTACK WINNERS, GUARDS IN OHIO LABOR WAR

Non-Union Men, Escorted by Sheriff and 8 Deputies, Stoned, Bitten and Pelted With Rotten Eggs.

By the Associated Press.
MARTINS FERRY, O., Aug. 25. New disorders have occurred here as a result of ill feeling between union sympathizers and Belmont County coal mine operators who are determined to reopen their mines with non-union labor. Between 50 and 75 women swooped down on 15 non-union workmen who were being escorted by Sheriff Hardesty and eight deputies to the Florence mine and hurled stones and rotten eggs, entered into a "free for all" scuffle and occasionally did some biting. Monday three mine officials were assaulted by 100 men and women and one of the officials was knocked unconscious. In the disorder yesterday several persons suffered minor injuries, and a deputy sheriff was seriously bitten. The attack ended when the sheriff and his deputies drew their cudgels and charged. Five persons, four of them women, are held as a result of the two disorders. Josephine Holewick, Catherine Niska and Margaret Lupinski were arrested yesterday, and William Brown and Elizabeth Kanya face charges of violating a Federal Court restraining order and of inciting a riot in connection with Monday's outbreak.

Labor Chief Halts March of 1000
on Non-union Mine in Ohio

By the Associated Press.
ATHENS, O., Aug. 25.—Attempted invasion of the non-union coal mines of Middleport and Pomeroy by several hundred union sympathizers was halted today by quick action of union officials who feared the demonstration might lead to violence. Starting in the Sunday Creek Valley near Glouster with 400 union sympathizers, the caravan picked up several hundred more as it proceeded southward through the county until the throng, carried in automobiles and headed by a drum corps, was estimated to have numbered 1000 men, women and children when it was stopped. Oral Daugherty, president of the Ohio district miners' union, headed off the party before it crossed the Athens-Meigs County border. He delayed the crowd to turn back and it was quickly dispersed.

The "march" was started with the idea of persuading a number of former Athens County union miners, now working in non-union mines in Meigs county, to quit and join the fight against operators who are in disagreement with the union over the wage scale.

CITY CANNOT CLAIM $85,000
EGRESS FARES PAID TO U. R.

City Counselor's Office Also Expresses Opinion State Has No Right to Seek Money.

An opinion rendered today by the City Counselor's office to the effect that the city has no right to claim the excess fares collected by the United Railways at the period of the tentative 7 1/2 cent and 8 cent fares last February. The Attorney-General's office has moved to claim the sum, estimated at $85,000, for the State Treasury, and the Comptroller inquired whether the city would have any ground to claim the amount. The opinion, written by Associate Counselor R. S. Bull, expresses the view that the State also has no claim on the money. The Supreme Court has held, Bull says, that the claim of a passenger to a refund of excess fare is a private right, not subject of enforcement by the State. Referring to sections of law under which the Attorney-General is operating, the opinion held that these would not be construed as giving the city a claim.

Receipts for the excess fare were given by conductors only to passengers who demanded them, and as most passengers neglected to ask for them, only a small sum was refunded after the Public Service Commission restored the former fare. The controversy does not apply to the present 7 1/2 and 8 cent fare, which has been duly authorized.

2 MEN AND WOMAN ARRESTED FOR OPERATING PUNCHBOARDS

Cigar Store Owner, Drug Store
Proprietor and Cashier Give Bond.

Two men and a woman were arrested yesterday in the beginning of a campaign the police intend waging against operation of punchboards in the city. The men were Adolph J. Sinwell, proprietor of the City Hall Drug Store, Twelfth and Pine streets, and Andrew Halloran, proprietor of a cigar stand in the Landreth Building, Fourth and Locust streets. Miss Gladys Stephens, cashier in the cigar store, was arrested after she is alleged to have sold several chances on a board to visiting policemen. Men From Fall Into Quiklime.
The Coroner is investigating the death yesterday of William Harris, 55 years old, a Negro, of 10 North Pittingwell avenue from burns suffered June 30, when he fell into a can of quiklime. The accident occurred at the plant of the Schmidt Construction Co., 650 Rosedale avenue. Employees at the plant said Harris leaned against a door and it gave way, causing him to fall into the quiklime.

U. S. GIANT AIR BomBER MAKES TEST FLIGHTS

Huge Army Plane Takes Off After 1000-Yard Run at Bristol (Pa.) Field.

By the Associated Press.
BRISTOL, Pa., Aug. 25.—The Cyclops, biggest and most powerful airplane of the United States, and said to be the third largest in the world, had its first test yesterday. The giant army bomber made two flights remaining in the air 22 minutes the first time and 20 minutes the second.

Lieut. Frank B. Tyndall, of McCook Field, Dayton, piloted the air dreadnaught. He took off after a run of 1000 yards, which aviators said was exceptionally good for a heavy plane, and ascended to a height of about 3000 feet. After circling the field a number of times the pilot made a "perfect landing."

Walter L. Lee, representative of the motor manufacturers, went up as a passenger on the second trip, during which the Cyclops attained a speed of 150 miles an hour and throttled down to 45 miles an hour. The maximum speed of the bomber has not been determined.

After additional tests here the bomber will be flown to Wright Field, Dayton, for experimental work. The Cyclops is a sister ship of the Curtiss Condor recently purchased by the army. It weighs nearly eight tons and has a wing spread of 86 feet. It will carry a load of four tons, including one ton of bombs and six to 10 machine guns, and was built for a crew of five.

JUSTICE AND SHERIFF CITED

Collusion With Dry Law Violators Charged in Michigan.
MONROE, Mich., Aug. 25.—Gov. Green has signed an order requiring Sheriff Joseph Kinsey and Justice Fred Schoepfer to show cause why they should not be removed from office.

The action followed recommendations of Judge George W. Sample, who investigated rum-running conditions here, who charged the officials were in collusion with liquor-law violators. The investigation has resulted in arrests of eight persons alleged to be connected with a rum-smuggling ring, supplying points over the Middle West, principally Chicago and Ohio cities.

ANCIENT CHINESE ART ON VIEW AT MUSEUM

Collection of 13 Album Paintings, Dating to 950 A. D., in City Collection.

A collection of 13 Chinese album paintings, executed from 600 to almost 1000 years ago, before the Manchus from the north conquered China, is being shown at the Art Museum this month as part of the permanent collection. The paintings have been acquired painstakingly during the last six years, and represent the art of the Sung and Yuan dynasties, the period roughly from 950 to 1279 A. D.

Fine specimens of India ink monochrome, which were first brought to perfection about 200 years before the Sung dynasty took over the affairs of Cathay, are among the paintings. There are also specimens of the purely representative school of the early Sung period—artist who reproduced with extraordinary fidelity each curve and twist of twig or leaf, each feather of a bird.

The more typical conventional landscapes, however, deriving from early Chinese paintings that are of a piece with conventional Chinese poetry, are well represented in the collection. In some of these paintings, the contemplative mood of the Taoist is evident. Among the artists represented are Li Chung, Lin Chen, Gao Sor-Li Sung, Lu Chin, Li Tang, Li Ch'eng, Ma Yuan, Kue Yen, Chao Yung and Wong So She. The latter five are miniaturists.

The Sung dynasty began in the middle of the ninth century and lasted until 1279, when the Yuan dynasty usurped the throne. The great mandarins of these—as of other periods, maintained albums in which they kept treasured paintings on silk or other precious fabric of the type exhibited.

PRIORITY ASKED FOR PRESS

TELEGRAMS BY CONFERENCE

Delegates to League of Nations Meeting Urges Preferential Treatment for News Messages.

By the Associated Press.

GENEVA, Aug. 25.—Press telegrams should be given priority over ordinary private telegrams, says a resolution adopted yesterday by the International Press conference at its opening session. The delegates thus emphasized the idea that the news agencies and newspapers of the world being the great medium for the presentation of daily world events, should be accorded preferential treatment.

The conference is being held under the auspices of the League of Nations for the purpose of studying problems connected with newspaper affairs. Lord Burnham, proprietor of the London Daily Telegraph, presided.

Another resolution adopted declares that for the purpose of international communications a category of telegrams, known as "urgent press" should be established at double rates, as compared with ordinary press telegrams, and that urgent press telegrams should have priority over urgent private telegrams. The incorporation of this resolution would make urgent press messages cost the same as ordinary private telegrams.

NEWMAN TESTIFIES AS TO BANK ROBBERY

Gangster Before Illinois Grand Jury Thought to Have Implicated Sheltons.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Aug. 25.—Art Newman, gunman, gambler and life term convict, today told the Christian County grand jury the story of the robbery of the Kincaid (Ill.) Trust & Savings Bank, implicating it is understood, the three Shelton brothers of East St. Louis, once his friends, but later his bitter enemies.

Brought to Taylorville from Chester penitentiary, where he is serving a life sentence for complicity in the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City on Dec. 12 last, Newman said he understood to be adhering to the story of the robbery as he gave it to the Post-Dispatch in a series of disclosures last February.

Story Told to Post-Dispatch.
At that time he said that Carl Earl and Bernie Shelton wanted to borrow an automobile from him in September, 1924, to "look over the ground for a pickup." Newman said he offered to lend them a stolen machine but was unwilling to let them use his new Lincoln.

Finally however, he consented to drive them to Kincaid, according to his story. He has maintained, however, that he took no part in the actual holdup, on Sept. 27, 1924, in which the robbers got into a pistol fight and fled after dropping the loot—between $2000 and $4000, Newman is understood to have told Christian County officers that the three brothers and two other men committed the robbery. The same bank was robbed of $55,000 in 1921.

East Side Doctor Subpoenaed.
Newman is supposed to have furnished the name of an East St. Louis physician who dressed a leg wound suffered by Bernie Shelton in making his escape. The physician is to be subpoenaed as a witness.

Newman was one of the Government witnesses in the case in which the Shelton brothers were sent to 25-year terms in the Federal penitentiary in Leavenworth for a mail robbery at Collinsville. Later some of the witnesses, including Newman, admitted the testimony had been "framed" and the Sheltons were released on bond pending a new trial.

SHOT FIRED INTO BARBER SHOP; WOMAN AWAITING BOB FAINTS Man, Arrested Nearby, With Revolver, Says Barber Insulted His Wife.

A woman waiting to have her hair bobbed in a barber shop at 1103 Piggott avenue, East St. Louis, fainted yesterday when three shots were fired into the shop at "the barber, J. F. Gross, who was cutting another customer's hair. The shots went wild.

A policeman arrested Edward Roberts, a laborer, of 1821 Baker avenue, who was standing across the street, at the east end of the Municipal Bridge, with a revolver in hand.

"I'm trying to kill that barber—he insulted my wife when she was getting her hair cut," Roberts said. He was charged with assault to kill. Gross denied insulting anyone.

Two Gypsy Women Steal $50.
Two gypsy women, who volunteered to tell the fortune of Harry

W. Hess and his wife yesterday afternoon, finally bolted from the place grocery at 1102 Kingsland avenue, St. Louis County, taking with them $50 from a bureau drawer in the Hess living quarters in the rear of the store.

AMERICAN TOURISTS FINED FOR SPEEDING IN QUEBEC

429 of 1243 Cases in Canadian Province Since Aug. 1 Were Against Drivers From U. S.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MONTREAL, Quebec, Aug. 25.—Heavy speeding fines have been handed out to United States tourists in the province of Quebec in the last three weeks. For every two Canadian drivers who are fined there is one American. In all, 1243 fines were imposed during this period and of these 429 were against Americans. The visitors only have fines to worry about, but the local speeder stands a good chance of having his license revoked. Nearly 100 have been canceled this month.

The road census for the first week in August showed that on the bustiest highway, from Montreal to Toronto, only 14 per cent of the automobiles had United States license plates, yet nearly 40 per cent of the fines in Quebec were imposed on Americans.

15-Mile Match Event—Trophy Is Offered Winner of Contest.

Edwin C. Koenig, owner of Independence III, new high-speed power boat nearing completion here, announced today the receipt of a telegram from W. C. Edens, chairman of the Detroit Gold Cup Regatta Committee which is sponsoring the races at that city, September 3, 4, 5, and 6, commencing Gar Wood's acceptance of a match race at Detroit between his Miss America V and the local boat.

Koenig issued a challenge to Miss America V recently after announcing the construction of his new three-engined, triple-screw hydroplane which he believes will be able to better the $3,323 miles an hour record of Wood's boat which also holds the Harmsworth international trophy.

The race will be held at Detroit at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4. Koenig can win the one mile championship there by bettering the present record but the Harmsworth trophy will not be in competition. Commodore A. A. Schmitt of the Detroit Gold Cup Committee has offered a Silver Service trophy to be awarded the winner of the one-half 15-mile race.

Must Show in Tryout.
Wood stipulated in his acceptance that Independence III must first prove herself in a practice trial. Koenig has no fear in this competition, however, and feels confident that his boat will go considerably faster than the present record.

Independence III is receiving the finishing touches at the shops of Victor Barteau, local builder who formerly worked in Gar Wood's shops at Detroit. The last bit of construction will be rushed today and Koenig expects to launch the boat tomorrow for a test between the Eds and Free bridges on the Mississippi.

Wood will be at the wheel of his Miss America V and Koenig, also a pilot of many years' experience, will drive his boat. The local entry is 23 feet long by 7 feet 9-inch beam and is driven by three Hispano motors totaling 1500 horsepower, which are capable of 3100 revolutions a minute. The motors are capable of developing a maximum speed of 105 miles an hour, according to Koenig, although friction and other natural difficulties are likely to reduce that speed to 90 miles in racing trim.

HELD AND EVANS

IN CLOSE MATCH;
JONES HOLDS LEAD

Third while Chick was down in par 3 and they went to the fourth with Held one.

Evans squared the match on the sixth hole, sinking a three, while Held was taking four or one over par. They had halved the fourth and fifth in perfect figures.

Evans reached the final turn two up, after taking three putts on the twenty-seventh green, where he was hole high on the 512-yard hole with two beautiful wood shots. Held, one on in three and halved the hole in par 5.

Evans took a 37 for the first afternoon nine, while Held needed three more strokes.

Standings After 18 Holes.
Jones, despite a misadventure at the first hole, where his hooked drive injured a spectator, scored 68, or four under par to gain a lead of eight over Johnson in the first 18 holes.

Jones came home in 33, four under par after going out in perfect figures. Johnston, although shooting fine golf, seemed almost ridiculous under the hammering Jones gave him.

An enormous gallery followed Jones and Johnston and got plenty of excitement in addition to the accident at the first hole. The Atlanta bagged five birdies and was over par on only one hole, the fourth, 525 yards, where he drove to rough and put his second in a sand pit. Johnston won that hole and the fifth where Jones again got in the rough and took a par.

The Minneapolis star managed to halve six holes, playing stoutly against impossible odds. It was a repetition of St. Andrews, except that he was more deadly with his irons and not depending so much on the wizardry of his putter, "Calamity Jane."

Jones drove in his first hole, the worst of the eight initial putts, was pulled to the gallery, hitting a doctor on the temple and knocking him out for a time.

Spectator Not Badly Hurt.
The man hit by Jones' first drive was D. P. Gossin, Minneapolis. Gossin dropped but got up quickly while the ball bounced into the fairway, allowing the Atlanta to pitch on and halve the hole with Johnson in par 4.

The misadventure did not bother Jones' game on the next two holes, as he scored par.

Tunney's Tactics.

GUESSING what battle plan James Joseph Tunney will follow in his second fight with Jack Dempsey is interesting the "master minds" among the heavyweight fight clairvoyants. Whether he will renew the hit-and-run offensive that carried him to the title last year, or whether he will make a bid for popularity by meeting Dempsey half way is being discussed.

Among those who have raised the question is Mr. J. B. Sheridan, veteran sports authority, who observed, fights and fighters for many years and wrote about them entertainingly. In a letter to the Post-Dispatch Mr. Sheridan writes in part:

Can the champion pugilist run away, back up, fight defensively when defending an attack upon his title?

Would not a draw or a close decision be a defeat for the champion?

My idea is that the champion must carry the fight to the challenger if the challenger does not carry it to him, and show complete superiority or else lose, morally, if not actually.

The Champion's Duties.

TIME was when a champion would have scorned to run. One might recall in answer to Mr. Sheridan's letter. In those days the championship carried less money and more honor.

Today, with the title worth $2,000, to the man who can keep it two or three years, caution dictates sentiment. It is better to fight and run away than to lose the fight and the $2,000. The stake is so great that one might almost say it justified the means.

Tunney Said It.

AS TO the course Tunney is to pursue, we have his own word, to a Post-Dispatch representative, a few months ago. Tunney was asked if he felt that the title carried with it an obligation to force the fighting.

"That is foolish," Tunney replied. "I have my own method of fighting. It has been successful. I adapt my style to my opponent. In Dempsey's case, I choose the right course. Why should I change it?"

"The fact that I now hold the title will in no way effect my generalship in the next Dempsey fight. I will employ the way that seems most certain to win. And after all, to win is what I am out there for."

"Pride goeth before destruction," evidently means something to Tunney. Holding the title is not a mere matter of pride with him.

Could Afford It.
GENE could afford a little railing. He will have earned something like $1,500,000 from his title fights, in 12 months. It must be said in justice that Tunney's method is perfectly fair, justifiable and even to be admired from a tactical viewpoint. But it will never make him popular.

Classify Dempsey.
MR. SHERIDAN in his letter should also discuss where Dempsey should be classed, as com-half way mark to Eddie Held, St. Louis, who took the last hole where Chick pushed his drive to a clump of young Christmas trees and had to shoot sideways and take five.

Evans lost the first two holes to Held but squared the match at the sixth and was one up at the turn. He retained that lead by halving six holes in a row in par, but dropped the fifteenth to a par to be square. Evans won the sixteenth in perfect figures, but lost the seventeenth to a birdie and the eighteenth by his roaming to the pine copse.

Francis Ouimet, Boston, by tallying par 72, gained a lead of 3 up over Phillips Finlay, New York, who took 71, while Harry Legg of the home club was square with Roland MacKenzie, Washington, both scoring fair 75.

Held Starts 2 Up and Has Lead Over Evans After 18

Held won the first two holes from Evans in the morning round, the first with a birdie, where the Chick's putt would not go down and the second with a par when Evans took three putts. They halved the third in par.

Evans squared the match with Held by winning the fifth with a birdie three and the sixth with a par 3, Held being wide of the green and in trouble, and taking five on the 190-yarder.

Evans won the 232-yard eighth with a fair four, while Held took

pared to the great old timers. Of this he writes:

Was interested in a reply made by you to some inquirer who wanted you to retire from boxing.

Some 16 years ago I made a long study of pugilism, 1715 to 1911. I found the stars to rate:

1. Peter Jackson.
2. Jack Johnson.
3. Gentleman Jackson, England, 1800-15.

4. S. Fitzsimmons—Dempsey. Jeff was not an attractive or aggressive fighter, but the way in which he covered up, invulnerable, his patience and power made him practically unshakable. He'd have let Dempsey hit the top of his head or elbow, then broke him in two with left-handers to the body.

Peter Jackson was the boxer-fighter par excellence, the best mentally straight hitter of the race, cool, calm, clever, and a good strategist. He was a big man, 6 feet 7 inches, 200 pounds and a noble fighter. Of the early fighters he was the only really good one.

I believe Jack Johnson was cleverest of all, a mighty fighter, but so "sandy" and so unconditioned that I can't rate him greatest.

Bill Tilden Wins

Newport Tournney

Defeats Appel, Bell and Hyde to enter Semi-Finals—Doeg and Hennessey Beaten.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—After defeating Kenneth Appel of Princeton, 6-0, 6-2, today, William T. Tilden won from Berkeley Bell of Dallas, Tex., sixteenth in the national ranking, to enter the quarter-finals of the invitation tennis tournament at the famous Newport Casino. Tilden downed Bell at 6-3, 6-0, outguessing the fighting Texas youngster with beautifully placed drives.

Next after Tilden to enter the quarter-finals was Francis T. Hunter, his doubles partner and Davis Cup teammate. After defeating M. H. Partridge, Dartmouth College star, 6-3, 6-4, Hunter turned his burning drives against Gregory Mangin, 19-year-old New York, N. J. player, and won at 6-1, 6-2.

Frank Shields, 17-year-old national junior champion, also entered the quarter-finals by defeating Cranston Holman, blonde star of the Leland Washburn University team, in a hard-fought match, 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.

John Hennessey, veteran Hoosier, faded out of the picture in surprisingly rapid fashion, through a 6-1, 6-2 defeat by John Van Ryn, Princeton's best player, in the third round.

Belgian Champion Loeser. Jean Washer, tennis champion of Belgium, met unexpected defeat today in the second match he played in this country. He lost to Watson Washburn at 6-2, 6-4, in the third round.

Showing unfamiliarity with grass court play, Washer narrowly escaped defeat by Howe Bancroft, California, junior, in his first match earlier in the day. Against the steady Washburn the Belgian southpaw's errors told heavily. In the first set Washburn took a 6-1 lead, but Washer rallied to win the set 6-4.

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Jimmy Bronson, one of Gene Tunney's handlers while he was in France, will be in the champion's corner when he meets Jack Dempsey at Chicago. Bronson was one of Tunney's seconds in the title fight last year at Philadelphia.

Bronson's selection, the departure of Paul Cavalier, a sparring partner, the return to camp of Eddie Egan, former amateur heavyweight champion, and a visit of another group of the champion's friends marked a round of leisure for the champion's baggage and training paraphernalia will be packed Tuesday after the workout.

Tunney has been boxing without a headgear, although his sparring partners wore them. When a newspaper man called Gene's attention to this, and asked the reason he was told that the protection was not needed.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

CAN WE KEEP MAN IN HIS "PLACE?"

How long, O my Daughter, shall we keep Man "in his PLACE?"
For lo, did not the sages and lawmakers once cry unto heaven,
"Woman's place is in the Home!"

But now it hath come to pass that woman's place is in the business office and upon the platform and upon the jury and in the seats of the mighty!

Yet man's place continueth to be in the upper berth of a Pullman car when he travelleth with his wife—

And at the loose end of a street-car strap.

On the sinking ship if the life-preservers are limited, and beside the draughty window when his wife shivereth.

At the end of the feminine line at the box-office window—and in the back of the theater box, with a one-third view!

At the head of the table struggling with the roast—and at the foot of the line checking the wraps.

On the side of the bed nearest the door and the burglars; and on the cot in the hall if the house be crowded.

Under the car in the garage on Sunday morning—and beneath the car beside the road, on the 200-mile drive.

In the pantry mixing the punch when the guests arrive—and down in the cellar when the furnace needeth attention.

At the station when the trunks arrive—and in the "Annex"
when the summer hotel overfloweth.

On the couch in the den when his mother-in-law cometh for a visit—and on a bunk in the attic when the week-end guests fill the bedrooms.

At the end of the gangplank with the luggage; or in the long queue at the hotel desk looking after the reservations.

At the quick-lunch counter on week-days—and out in the garden weeding the flower beds upon holidays.

At the other end of the telephone when he is wanted—and at the other ends of the earth upon cleaning days.

In the darkest corner of the hall closet and on the highest shelf in the bathroom cabinet.

On the wrong side of the reading lamp—and on the harder side of the bed.

In the sweltering city in summer, while his wife is beside the cool waters; and in the office in winter, while his wife is in Florida!

Verily, verily, man's "place" in the world is full of honor. Yet no woman would rob him of it!

Served in Oven Ware

By HANNAH WING.

HEAT regulators and temperature controls have done much to make oven cooking a more popular mode of food preparation.
Fortunately, oven glassware was developed at about the same time as these devices so that a whole meal baked in the oven might come to the table in the same dish in which it was prepared. This eliminated much extra washing of dishes and pots and pans, and made it possible to serve food in the most attractive form.

In oven glassware it is possible to obtain the proper dishes for serving all kinds of cooked foods be it all kinds of meats, individual casseroles, meat luncheon or supper dishes of leftovers more attractive than the original roast, which may be served on the glass platter, which is the lid of this new heat-retaining roaster. Casseroles of all kinds are available for vegetables, meat dishes and stews of baked puddings. Divided dishes make it possible to cook two kinds of food under one cover for the small family.

The heavy glass holds the heat and insures even baking of pies, breads, biscuits and muffins. Small meats even may be cooked in the deep-covered bakers or in the larger platter-covered roaster of oven glass aluminum. One of the most attractive pieces of the glass ovenware is the platter, upon which baked fish or planked steak may be served without the annoyance of lifting the fish from the pan to a platter, with consequent damage to the appearance of the fish.

Food cooked in covered glassware has all the advantage of the French method of cooking, in which all the flavors are carefully kept in the food by means of felt pads and other more primitive arrangements to prevent flavors encasing from the pot. Incidentally, since oven glass, once heated, retains the heat, less fuel is used and a cooler kitchen is certain.

Serving food in oven glassware makes it possible to heat the dishes to the proper state of piping hot-ness, without danger to fine china or porcelain. The thickness of the glass helps to retain the heat in the food, and food is nearly as hot at the end of the meal as at the beginning. Glass tiles, which also retain the heat, are used on the table to protect it from the hot dishes.

How to Get Rid of Tan

By ANNE JORDON.

UNTIL very recently a girl couldn't hair away her tan Summer vacation for thinking of her Fall complexion. She struggled "neath a big umbrella, shrouded her head in a beach hat, and ruefully at her arms peeping out, and hoped the sun that seared scorching fingers over her milk-white skin.

But today a milk-white skin is as passe as the milk-white horse of another generation. The Summer girl in a boyish suit strides the beach with no hat and tosses her tanned hair to the breeze, flings her little body on burning sands, soaks the sun in the face and sings "Do your worst!" For sunburn is the latest "agony." A rich cream has overclouded the skin's whiteness, and Summer is welcomed with genuine delight.

However, sunburn is a fact that may pass as quickly as a number of other fads, and if Winter comes and your skin looks like the outside of an adobe hut I'll tell you how to make a cold cream that will whiten it up with a few applications.

To make this cold cream you must have four large or five small cucumbers, six ounces of sweet oil almonds, one ounce of white sugar, one ounce of spermaceti, two ounces of lanolin and two tea-spoonfuls of tincture of benzoin.

Put the almond oil into a double boiler, cut the cucumbers (without peeling) in four parts, then slice into cubes about an inch square. As soon as the oil begins to get warm drop the cucumbers into it. Allow this to cook together for a very slow fire for several hours, then take off and strain.
Use only six or seven ounces of this mixture and add to it the wax, spermaceti and lanolin and return the slow fire until the mixture is melted and absorbed into each other. Then remove from fire and stir until cool, adding as it

Sixty-seven Couples Married Fifty Years In Maine County

Maine offers convincing proof not only that her climate is conducive to longevity but also, through her Three-Quarter Century Club, that married life can be long and happy in the Pine Tree State.
Franklin County has just celebrated its first Fifty-Year-Married Couple Day.

Divorce is not popular in Maine and particularly not in Franklin County, for the Farmington Chamber of Commerce found sixty-seven couples who have been married fifty years or more.

During the chamber's Old Home Week festivities more than half this number came to town to attend a dinner, concert and speeches in their honor. Not one couple drove in "by team," as the New England country saying goes. They motored in.

Not one looked unhappy. Scarcely half a dozen of the men carried canes. Moreover, those of the women who brought umbrellas carried them not for support but for fear of a hot day or a sudden shower.

They had dinner at the Methuist church; stepped along lively to the strains of a wedding march; tapped their toes during the band concert in the park. They decided too that the Rev. Arthur Titcomb was an able speaker and about right when he said that such successful married folk ought to tell the world how to found a true home and maintain it.

Honors went to Mr. and Mrs. J.
H. Crowell of Farmington, who have been married sixty-three years, and to Mr. and Mrs. James E. Kenney of West Farmington, who were celebrating their golden wedding with their children and grandchildren around them.

The oldest man at the party was August Butterfield of East Wilton, who is eighty-nine and a Civil War veteran.

How to Make the Luggage Safe

THE end of vacation, the beginning of travel to schools, colleges brings up the old, old problem of how to make your luggage safe for democratic traveling.
Here are a few pointers as to how to pack, what not to pack and how to assure your receiving your luggage intact and "toute suite."

1. Don't forget that the luggage will inevitably receive a good deal of handling and will frequently be turned topsy-turvy in the process.
Therefore, if it is really necessary to place any articles made of glass, china, and so on in the trunk, these articles should be carefully protected by adequate cushioning material.

2. All goods should be packed snugly, with the heavy articles at the bottom and so arranged as to prevent shifting.

3. The luggage should be filled even if it is necessary to use crumpled newspapers to take up the vacant space.

4. Lock the luggage. You may think you always do, but sometimes you don't.

5. Remove or effectively erase all old address labels and marks.

6. Your name and address should be placed inside of each piece of luggage so that if it does go astray owing to marks becoming defaced in transit, it can be opened as a last resort and identified.

7. Prepare two labels and one strong tag showing:

(a) Name and address of sender.
(b) Name and address of consignee.
(c) Value.
(d) Date of shipment.
(e) Attach these labels and tags firmly to your luggage.
(f) Then stop worrying.

A new and interesting note for sports wear is the easily embroidered coat, which combines with the formal costumes.

Skirts Are a Puzzle.

The smart shops instead of being "on the Avenue" are being on the fence, at least as to length of skirts. They still are uncertain what the bulk of women want.
Everybody knows what pretty knees want but there are so few pretty knees. Therefore the smart shops are showing dresses fully as short in front and nearly as long in back as a decade ago. The fashion is likely to change as fast as the wearer can turn about.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls or answers by mail cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

AUTO TOURISTS—Inquiries as to routes are answered by the Post-Dispatch Travel Bureau. Please call, write, or telephone.

MR. E. J. B.—We have no record of value for the foreign coins mentioned. Please send stamped self-addressed envelope for business address.

THANK YOU—A polishing powder made of 1 pound of chalk and 4 pounds of fine marble, mixed with a little oil, will remove the scratches from the glass which is done in five operations. Please send self-addressed, stamped envelope and refer to this.

M. M. B.—Reference works in general use do not answer the questions you ask about Antonius Stradivarius. Encyclopaedias and dictionaries of his ever having had a shop in Berlin. A good biography of him, which is by the sons of William Elworthy, your brother who made a study of the life and work of the violin maker.

WAYTON—The flag of the United States was displayed with a French and German flag on either side of it on the City Hall flagpole. This was in honor of the return of the trans-Atlantic flight. As this was at the time of the return of Clarence Chamberlin, aviator, it is in honor of the German flag, about which you ask.

LEGAL INFORMATION

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association)

LOUIS H.—In regard to the man selling goods by canvassing from town to town, he would probably need a license in each city if he sold from door to door.

P. D.—In all probability the children of the Civil War veterans cannot collect the pension now. However, they might write to their congressman or senator asking him to make an inquiry.

THANKS—A marriage license can be obtained at any county court in Missouri, and the ceremony can then be performed in St. Louis.

SUBSCRIBER—If a suit has been filed it will not be out-lawed even though it is not reached for trial within the three years you mention. It may be.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered. Diagnosis or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

MRS. IDA B.—The service you ask about is free at Barnes Hospital for those who cannot afford to pay. Barnes Hospital is located at Euclid and Scott Avenues.

E. D.—Yeast is of considerable value for the condition mentioned, but it should be used with proper diet and proper elimination. The gain in your back could be secured by a variety of conditions. We advise a thorough examination by a physician.

Y. Y.—There is no specific medicine for the condition you mention. The bromide of sodium in doses of 10 grains three or four times a day will be of benefit. In the event of all kinds of ailments, do not use the meat diet should be reduced, elimination carefully regulated and it is advisable that long walks be taken daily.

P. D. BOOSTER—You are extremely nervous and it is advised to find the cause of the nervousness. There is some focus of infection in your body and we suggest that you undergo a thorough physical examination that your trouble may be remedied.

C. L. S.—Such a growth might become malignant or cancerous and in view of this possibility should be examined and the sooner the better. This examination will be made free of charge at the Barnes Skin and Cancer Hospital, Theresa and Washington.

E. S. F.—Try using a hot foot bath night and morning with a tablespoonful of the following powder dissolved in 10 cups of water: one ounce, rock salt and borax; of each two ounces. DECLARES 'PERMANENT WAVES' ARE AT CUSTOMERS' OWN RISK

Beauty Shop Proprietor, Sued, Says She Does Not Guarantee Against Burns

Women get "permanent waves" at their own risk, said Miss Margaret Maule, proprietor of the Margaret Maule Beauty Shoppe, 704 St. Charles street, in commenting on the $5000 suit filed yesterday by Miss Margaret Sayers, 1228 Coleman street, who alleged her scalp was burned in the defendant's shop April 7.

Miss Sayers alleges the injury was caused by an electrically heated curler, while she was receiving a "permanent wave." Miss Maule said no operator could guarantee against inflicting a scalp burn while giving a permanent wave.

Mackay Officially Asserts His Firm Will Send Messages on Both Short and Long Waves.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Entry of the Postal Telegraph Commercial Cables on a large scale into the field of radio communication, through acquisition of the radio system of the Federal Telegraph Co., is announced by George V. McLaughlin, vice president of the Mackay companies.
The announcement was generally regarded as indicating an important trend in the development of continental and inter-continental communication.
McLaughlin's statement makes clear that it is the plan of the Mackay interests to extend and expand the service of the Federal Telegraph Co., which is now confined to a point-to-point and ship-to-shore service on the Pacific, so that radio will be used to supplement and relieve the present rush of traffic over land telegraph lines and ocean cables.
"In short," said McLaughlin, "the contract will enable the Mackay system to offer to the public a complete land telegraph, ocean cable and land and ocean radio service."
Extension of the radio communication service of the Federal Telegraph Co. is made possible by a provision in the contract which gives the Mackay companies the right to purchase from the Federal Co. radio and other apparatus and use it without fear of patent infringement.
Acquires Radio System.
The Mackay Companies have signed a contract for the acquisition, by a subsidiary of the radio communications system of the Federal Telegraph Co., which operates a point-to-point radio service in California, Washington and Oregon and also a ship-to-shore service on the Pacific coast," said McLaughlin's statement.
The Federal Company also is engaged in the manufacture of radio apparatus and under the contract the Mackay Companies has the right to purchase from the Federal Co. radio and other apparatus under the patent rights of the Federal Company.
The Mackay Companies have been conducting an examination into the Federal Company's system and patent rights for over eight months, and is satisfied that shortly after the consummation of this transaction the Mackay system will be in a position to put forward with the extension of radio communication service as a part of its communication facilities.
To Use Long and Short Wave.
McLaughlin said the Federal Co. controlled the development of the long wave length arc system of radio transmission through its ownership of numerous patents. Long wave length transmission is believed to be more efficient than the short wave system for trans-oceanic radio communication. The arc system of long wave transmission, he said, is now employed not only by the Federal Co. but in the high power stations operated by the United States Navy and by some foreign governments.
For point-to-point communication within the United States short-wave transmission is better than long-wave, McLaughlin said, and the Federal Co. by reason of its patents based upon inventions made by Dr. Lee DeForest at a time when he was employed by the Federal Co. as a research engineer, is in a position to supply the Mackay system with short wave tube transmitting equipment. The Federal Co. also is prepared, he said, to furnish substitute short-wave equipment not based on DeForest patents.
"With this assurance of a supply of short-wave equipment free of patent infringement," said McLaughlin, "it is the intention of the Mackay companies, as soon as the transaction is consummated and the proper approvals are secured from the Federal Radio Commission, to establish point-to-point radio communication, extending and expanding the communication system of the Federal Co. in certain parts of the country, which also will be an extension and supplement to the present communication facilities of the Mackay companies.
The Federal Co. has, moreover,

The Witchcraft State.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NOT always do I agree with the editorial tone of your paper, but whether anyone likes it or not, your positive expression of a positive opinion shows intellectual power and deep conviction. Certainly you have made a manly try to open the public mind to a fair estimate of evidence in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, and it is too bad that the same passion for unbiased judgment is not more generally felt and understood.

However, what more than happened could be expected in a commonplace case whose traditions are rooted in the forbidding background of Gallows Hill, at Salem, where 19 innocent victims of the witchcraft delusion were hung, because the forebears of this same people thought they were witches, being, perhaps, ugly or peculiar.

New Courthouse Inscription.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I UNDERSTAND a committee has been selected to select inscriptions to be carved in stone on the new St. Louis Courthouse Building.

I herewith suggest an inscription "in plain English" which will cover and mean just what all the beautiful sayings, "that no doubt will be offered by the public" will mean, and anyone reading the inscription will understand it without consulting the classics. Inscribe as follows: "This is a Temple of Justice, not a Political Pilety. All crooks, especially crooked politicians, frontiers, shyder lawyers and narrow-minded judges shall enter here only to be tried for their sins."

Notes That Annoy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

PEOPLE who live on brick streets know what it means to have their sleep interfered with continuously during the wee small hours of the morning.

Milk companies should be made to put rubber tires on their wagons so as to allow less noise when they go through the city so early. At about 3 o'clock almost every morning I am awakened by a milk wagon heavily tired with iron, which makes a tremendous noise, together with the horse as he plugs away with his heavy iron shoes.

Can Dempsey Whip Tunney?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

G O I back more than 50 years precedent says no. Joe Goss got the decision over Tom Allen with a foul verdict. Then ended Allen's ring life. Paddy Ryan whipped Goss. That ended Goss. Sullivan whipped Ryan twice. That ended Ryan. Corbett whipped Sullivan. That ended Sullivan. Fitzsimmons whipped Corbett. Corbett tried to come back and got whipped by Jeffries. Jeffries whipped Fitzsimmons twice. Jeffries retired and Luther, Marvin Hart and Tommy Burns figured as small fry. After Jack Johnson settled Tommy Burns he whipped Jeffries. Willard whipped Johnson. He tried to come back and failed. Dempsey whipped Willard. Tunney whipped Dempsey. Can Dempsey whip Tunney? No, he cannot. Ryan, Fitzsimmons, Corbett and Willard tried to come back and failed. Dempsey got a decisive whipping. But the pay for playing second fiddle is big. Dempsey knows he cannot whip Tunney with an honest referee. Grantland Rice says Dempsey hit Sharkey four foul blows. The referee and not fighters decides who shall win, so a New York State Senator declares.

The Etiquette of Gum Chewing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A FEW days ago I was reminded forcibly of one American habit which is not as yet subject to official ukase and has not so far succeeded in crashing into the etiquette books. I refer, sir, to the custom of chewing gum and parking it under the third hour or the sixth under a seat in a movie show. The technique of some of the parkers is no less than terrible. In company with a lady friend, I went to a local motion picture palace. The gum I refer to had been parked underneath the seat, but at the extreme outer edge. As a result, I had to apologize to the lady and change to my second best suit when I reached home.

The lecture we saw, sir, was not of the type to lure the brainless flapper, so the gum could not have been put there thoughtlessly. Perhaps some intellectual, disgusted with the picture, put the gum there for revenge. If so, let him go to his grave, his conscience haunted by the thought that he ruined the trousers of another intellectual. I think palace of the cinema-dramatic art should install big, bright, shining spittoons in the lobby. They are urgently needed.

ALCIBIADES.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

The summer of 1927 has written "A Tale of Two Cities"—Rapid City, and Geneva. In the sequence of facts some future novelist may find the prelude to a narrative of infinitely vaster tragedy than the imagination of Dickens drew from the agony of Paris and the anxiety of London.

A distinguished procession of visitors has made the pilgrimage to Rapid City—Cabinet Officers, Senators, Representatives, Ambassadors. Before departing they have been interrogated and duly reported in the press. Their impressions may be summed up as a perfunctory testimonial to the popularity of Mr. Coolidge and a confident prediction of the President's renomination and re-election.

Then on a serene and cloudless afternoon came the verbal bolt heard round the world—the detonation "I do not choose to run for President in 1928"—and the tranquil, assured status quo was shot to smithereens.

Meantime the envoys of three great Powers had met in Geneva to formulate a plan of reduction in naval armament in order to promote the beguiling ideal of peace and good will and in order to serve the practical, immediate, bread-and-butter objective of tax relief. Through seven arduous weeks those American, Japanese and British Ministers plenipotentiary talked cruisers, and guns and parity and ratios. They waxed vehemently eloquent on Imperial necessities and national security. They got undignifiedly angry on several occasions. Finally with suave expressions of mutual esteem, they adjourned in abject failure.

Our novelist of the future will steep himself in everything pertaining to the genesis of "The Last White War." Digging into newspaper files of 1927 he will learn that Geneva's adjournment preceded Rapid City's "I do not choose." A splash of royal purple will color the story in the dedication of the Peace Bridge while Niagara thundered an obligato. But Niagara's roar will be as a soothing murmur compared with the twenty-cruiser program announced from Rapid City after the appearance of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

Next the visit of Director of the Budget, Herbert M. Lord, whose all-day conference with Mr. Coolidge terminates in the President's approval of a bigger military plan. The "material increase" in next year's expenditure for the National Defense is a message which we can all understand. The happy forecast for another generous slash in Federal taxes which politicians of both parties have been promising must be revised. Some slight cut will likely be made, as a matter of political strategy, but the figures of receipts and disbursements as calculated by the Director of the Budget shows a diminishing surplus which warns tax reducers against trespassing.

Thus runs the diary of 1927: The Geneva failure. The President's Rapid City ultimatum "I do not choose." Wilbur and twenty cruisers. The Director of the Budget comes. The "Coolidge economy" tradition dies. Tax reduction fades to a whisper and, in the name of National Defense we prepare to increase our armed forces on sea and land and in the air.

Such the order of events which this waning summer will bequeath to our novelist of some far tomorrow.

THE COMIC OPERA SEASON ENDS.

Time was when Brentwood suggested Sherwood Forest. There were to match the musical bandits of another time Gunman Skow and his merry comrades in arms. You have, of course, seen "Robin Hood," and heard the famous air chorus. Then you have also visualized the bold road agenting at the Manchester and the North and South roads, and you have heard the rolicking fee-splitting choruses of the Brentwood yeomanry.

But not after this. Like the Municipal Opera, romance at Brentwood is in its last week. There is to be a stop-and-go signal where the modern imitations of Littlejohn and the rest lay in wait for the unsuspecting motorist. There is to be no more fee splitting. Brentwood that was, a byword and a hissing, is to become Brentwood the reformed, and for that sign a part of modern civilization.

So endeth romance hereabouts, all arms, halberks, tunics, armor, helmets, and all props whatsoever, to be returned to the costumer not later than September 1.

WE SING THE PERSONAL COLUMN.

Have all the blissful adjuncts to love's young dream, all the artless aids to romance, been celebrated in a befitting manner? We think not. Poets have hymned the moon, have sought in the loveliness of the rose a befitting comparison for the blushing cheeks of fair maidenhood awakening to love, have addressed sundry eulogies to the murmuring stream. But has the personal column ever been glorified? Never.

Yet the personal column, as an aid to romance, is not lightly to be esteemed. Consider Ollie's curt, "I can't be bothered." Ah, Ollie, you must have retained some small spark of affection for the erring Harry. Feeling that you could not steel your heart to write him that you could not be bothered, you placed your final "No!" in the personal column. Knowing that your quavering voice and tear-dimmed eyes would betray you had you told him to his face that you could not be bothered, you told Harry you would see him in the personal column. Consider Harry's manly plea, "I must see you at once." Even if you do not consider it, Ollie did. Would she be the one to end the romance? The answer is a negative toss of her pretty head. Harry has a telephone number to call now. We feel sure that Harry will make the telephone conversation so convincing, will give such proofs of repentance, that Ollie gladly will remove the romance from the personal column to the more suitable environs of the marriage license bureau. And in the meantime, the personal column waits, all unhonored and entirely unsung, the next almost blighted romance.

We sing the personal column, in dithyrambs and whoops.

CANNY SENATOR FESS.

Add to recent remarkable remarks by eminent statesmen of the republic, this by Senator Fess of Ohio, at Pama, Ill.: "You can never tell where the lightning is going to strike." He was being interviewed on the subject of Republican presidential possibilities, and this was the sum of his utterance. What chance has Nick Longworth to get Ohio's delegates against a man who can tread as softly as that?

O LORD, HOW LONG?

Tuesday of this week was dry law day in the Federal Court at East St. Louis. Seventy-seven men and women, most of them caught in a raid at Belleville, were before the court upon charges of violating in some way that pestiferous and obnoxious verminiform appendix of the Federal Constitution which we call prohibition.

Fifty-two of the defendants pleaded guilty. Judge Wham inflicted fines totaling $15,450, and jail sentences aggregating 3530 days. The accused ranged from a 14-year-old boy to an aged couple whose defense was that competition had compelled them to add homebrew to their stock at a public drinking place. Twenty-five defendants entered pleas of not guilty. They will be tried later.

It is an axiom that a whole people cannot be indicted. Is it not just as true that an entire community cannot be indicted? Is that a good law which picks up bodily a whole segment of the population and lands it before a Federal Judge? Is that a sound public policy, or one compatible with government by consent of the governed, that detaches Belleville, or any other American community, a people who are no more criminal than those of Westerville, O., and no less law-abiding than the Arcadians were, and sets it aside as something less than it ought to be or somehow inferior to the rest of the social body?

What a spectacle it is! Here we have majestically brought into court a community of people who are no more conscious of wrongdoing than the rest of the country is conscious of them having done wrong. To please a few rich industrialists whose millions are in this fool reform because they believe it increases the efficiency of their hands, and to gratify a lot of moralists who have so hopelessly confused the provinces of religion and morals that they are themselves fast coming to have neither, we go solemnly through such serio-comedies as that in the Federal Court at East St. Louis.

O Lord, how long?

CO-OPERATION NOT A CURE-ALL.

The report of the Department of Agriculture on the co-operative marketing of last year's cotton crop reveals a curious situation. One would assume offhand that the record-breaking yield of 1926, accompanied by a sharp break in prices, would have proved a great stimulus to the co-operative movement, as the growers would be anxious to take advantage of the more orderly marketing which co-operation affords.

The figures compiled by the Department of Agriculture do not bear out this assumption. The proportion of last year's low-priced crop handled by the reporting associations was 6.7 per cent, compared with 9.1 per cent for the crop of 1925 and 9.2 per cent for the crop of 1924. Actually more cotton is marketed by the co-operative associations when prices are high than when they are low. The explanation offered is that the small producers in a time of low prices are so hard pressed that they cannot afford to await the slow process of co-operative marketing, but must sell at once for ready cash.

Co-operation, then, does not appear to offer much hope of relief to the group which in an emergency like that of last year is likely to need it most. This does not detract from its palpable benefits, but it does indicate that co-operative marketing is not a cure-all for all agricultural depression.

At this rate they'll soon be calling the Cubs the dubs.

"IMPROVEMENT" IN NICARAGUA.

Gen. Sandino, the Nicaraguan leader whose forces were routed by Marine bombs at Ocotal, is hiding in the mountains, and an attack by a handful of Nicaraguans on a Marine detachment has been repulsed. Wherefore, Rear Admiral Sellers reports to the Navy Department that conditions in Nicaragua are steadily improving.

What the Admiral means, manifestly, is that military conditions in Nicaragua are improving from the North American point of view, and we have no doubt that in that sense his dispatch is perfectly accurate. It would be strange, indeed, if our troops were unable to improve the military situation in any way they might see fit.

But what of conditions other than military? What of the feeling of Latin-America toward the cultivation of trade relationships with the United States?

A recent dispatch from Mexico City tends to confirm the disquieting report made to the Williams town Institute of Politics by a former American Minister to Nicaragua. It relates that Mexico, confronted with the persistent refusal of Secretary of State Kellogg to allow good-will flights by American airplanes across the border, has turned to Europe for aid in the development of her aviation program. A commission is going next month to study methods and equipment in Great Britain, Germany, France and Italy. The logical outcome will be the purchase of airplane equipment in those countries.

Of what profit to American airplane makers is the fact that the military situation in Latin-America has been improved by the flight of Sandino to the mountains?

It is moved, seconded and unanimously carried that the Chaplins now vacate the first page.

GIRL WANTED.

The trouble with Kurt Odenheimer was that he did not have a girl in New Orleans. When Leander swam the Hellespont, which, if Kurt will recall, he did often, the adorable Hero waited for him in her tower. The poet Byron proved that the woman was not necessary by swimming the Hellespont himself, with nothing more than a whisky and soda on the other side, but Byron was a bit harder boiled than most. At any rate, Kurt has given up his swim from St. Louis to New Orleans. He made Memphis, where he has taken a job on a dredge boat, and the trip pulled on him. It got to be just one bend after another, and that which lent zest and strength to the youthful Leander was unfortunately lacking. Given a girl at New Orleans, he would by this time be on his way to Vicksburg, his heart singing and his heels light. As it is, he works on the dredge boat, and for want of romance the feat is dead.

Girl wanted.

Because we are eating less meat the number of beef cattle is diminishing, hides are fewer and more costly and the price of shoes is going up. In a pinch like this perhaps the vegetarians will persuade us to go barefoot.

MR. COOLIDGE: "SO, THIS IS SENATOR NORRIS' DISTRICT!"

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

THE GROWING POWER OF JUDGES.

JNO. T. FLINN, in Harpers Monthly.

IT has been reserved for the Judges in this enlightened age and in this country devoted to freedom to push out their power in every direction and to develop upon an alarming scale the fictitious under cover of which they are making the most serious invasions. While others are held rigorously to old forms, the court itself knows how to invent new powers for itself. No Judge likes work so little that he will deliberately deny his own jurisdiction. The laxest Judge may like his job little but he loves his jurisdiction more. He likes to sit upon his bench and watch his powers grow. Apparently the habit of listening to obsequious phrases and trying to amend bowing and scraping attendants is not good for the soul of the little man under the black robe. When some years ago Congress passed a law forcing Judges to grant jury trials in contempt cases growing out of the violation of injunctions in labor disputes, the lower court denied the jury trial and asserted that Congress was powerless to limit the lordly power of a Judge. And the Circuit Court of Appeals agreed with these Judges. Fortunately, the Supreme Court saved us from that. A little earlier the President pardoned a litigant who had been sentenced to a long jail term for contempt. But the Judge had the accused brought before him in the face of the President's pardon and ordered him to jail, declaring that the President had no such power. To a raw shayman this looks like a bad instrument to put into the hands of officials so far removed from public scrutiny and criticism as Judges.

PRESIDENTIAL FILES.

From the Moberly Monitor-Index.

WHEN Abraham Lincoln rashly remarked that "you can't make a whistle out of a pig's tail," some ingenious loafer promptly made and sent him one. An old-fashioned whistler could probably make a whistle out of anything. Likewise with trout flies.

A veteran in a Denver hospital, who had a feeling that President Coolidge needed some files for fishing, set out to concoct some, and apparently did a good job of it. Like the true artist, he found materials all around him. He clipped feathers from the wings of an old hen that happened to be scratching around, and some hairs from a dog's tail, and begged a little silk thread from another patient, and got some wax from a girl in the hospital craft shop, and some hooks from a visitor, and some leaders from another, and some shelled from somebody who was making a cedar chest, and added some red feathers abstracted from a woman's discarded hat, and presto! A set of flies which, from the looks of them, ought to make any trout's mouth water.

He sent the President a set of them, and had a dozen and a half left over. Before any spirited bidding for those extra flies develops, however, a waiting world of Missouri fishermen will want to know whether they will really lure fish to the hook. And that may never be known; for Mr. Coolidge, for perfectly satisfactory reasons of his own, prefers worms.

THE RED DEEP BANKS LOW.

From the Minneapolis Tribune.

IN VIEW of the disastrous Mississippi flood, it is interesting to note that 2199 years ago a Chinese engineer, Li-ping, laid down the correct engineering principle for controlling the flood conditions of a river flowing through a flat alluvial plain.

The works that he and his sons established for controlling the waters of the Min River in Szechwan Province as a distributary from the great Chingtu plain are still in perfect operation. The Chingtu plain is an area 100 miles long and 40 miles wide. Across this plain the Min River is distributed in eight main branches, converging at the lower end of the plain to form a single river again, which empties into the Yangtze above the Gorges.

Throughout the 2100 years, the engineering principle laid down by Li-ping, without which the whole system would have destroyed itself centuries ago, has been followed. Flood conditions are unknown. On the walls of the temple built to the memory of Li-ping and his sons at Kuan-hsien, is written this saying, familiar to every Chinese student: "Shen tao fan tao yen," meaning "Dig the bed deep, keep the banks low."

IS IT GOLF OR GOF?

From the Christian Science Monitor.

WHEN golf first came into general use for recreational purposes and before the era of brass-band effects in golf clothing, there was general insistence among those who claimed that their forefathers originated the game that golf is not golf, but "gof." Here, again, appears a word which an innocent consuming public needs to use with care. How should "golf" be pronounced—"gawif," "goluf," "gowlif," "golf" or "gof?" Apparently there are authorities, some of which may not rank very high, for all of them. Leading dic-

How the Dream Came True

THE CONQUEST OF THE AIR.
By C. L. M. Brown. Oxford University Press, American Branch, New York.

This compact but admirably comprehensive history of man's struggle for the mastery of the air is the latest issue in the World's Manuals series which is designed to furnish the average reader with interesting, nontechnical accounts of mankind's endeavors in all fields of activity and thought.

In presenting the fascinating story of man's old dream of flying that has at last come true, the author begins with antiquity when the wish to fly had as yet fathered only myths, and hastens on to the pre-scientific period of actual experiment.

Bladud, ninth King of Britain, seems to have been one of the earliest experimenters, and he is said to have ended with a broken neck. Then there was one Simon the Magician, who, in the time of Nero, was credited with having constructed a mechanical eagle which flew upon his entry into Nuremberg. It was that marvelous all-around genius, Leonardo da Vinci, who made the first truly scientific study of the problem of flying during the early years of the sixteenth century, but he was over 200 years ahead of his time.

In 1648, Bishop Wilkins of England published a work on "Mathematic and Magic" in which he devoted two chapters to the subject of flying, suggesting the necessity of finding some motive power other than that of man's muscles. During the following century Emanuel Swedenborg studied the problems of flight, and constructed, in theory only, a heavier-than-air flying machine. During the eighteenth century, Meierwein, an architect of Carlsruhe, Germany, went much farther with the slowly developing science of flight and succeeded in calculating correctly the wing surface necessary to sustain a given weight. At about the same time,

And first of all by the figuration of Art is left: There may be made instruments of Navigation without men to rowe in them: as huge Shippes to brooke the Sea, onely with one man to steere them, which shall faile farre more swiftly then if they were full of men. And Charlots that shall mooue with an vnspokeable force, without any living creature to stirre them: such as the crooked Charlots are supposed to haue bene, wherein in olde times they vied to fight, yea instruments to flic with all, so that one sitting in the middle of the Instrument, and turning about an Engine, by which the wings being artificially compoled may beate the ayre after the manner of a flying bird. Besides, there hoping to prove himself superior to St. Paul, strove to fly and came to a violent death. There is also said to have been a certain Saracen who attempted an exhibition flight before the Emperor Comnenus in the hippodrome at Constantinople. He seems to have used some primitive form of glider. Fatal injuries were his reward.

Throughout the Middle Ages the whole business was generally regarded as decidedly of the devil, but during the thirteenth century there was one in England, Friar Roger Bacon, who ventured to prophesy "an instrument to fly with all, so that one sitting in the middle of the instrument and turning about an engine, by which the wings being artificially compoled may beate the ayre after the manner of a flying bird." But, as yet, aviation was generally left to birds, devils and witches, though previous to Bacon's prophecy one Daniel is said to have achieved successful glides over Lake Trasimene, a mathematician. Regionautas

George Cayley of England was studying the problem and experimenting. It was he who declared that in order to fly, "all that has to be done is to make a surface support a given weight by the application of power to the resistance of the air." He had the idea of that was destined to succeed, and he even described a gas engine which he conceived as "firing the inflammable air, generated with a due proportion of common air, under a piston."

The first power-driven model of an airplane to make a free flight was that of John Stringfellow, an Englishman. This was in 1848. The model, without a passenger, managed to sail 40 feet under its own power and was stopped only by canvas that had been arranged for that purpose.

In addition to the complete story of the airplane, the author tells the story of the efforts of men with lighter-than-air craft.

The value of such a work just now is obvious.

EXHIBIT OF HANDWORK

MADE BY PLAY GROUPS

Dansante Review by Children From Public School Grounds Will Follow Tomorrow.

Children of the 74 public school playgrounds of St. Louis will exhibit handwork composed of sewing, weaving and woodwork produced on the playgrounds this year at Beaumont High School, 1125 Natural Bridge, avenue, tomorrow night from 7 to 10 o'clock. The exhibit will be followed by a dansante review.

The handwork represents the efforts of a good portion of the 12,000 school children who are attending the playgrounds during the summer vacation. Material and instruction in this work is furnished by the Board of Education.

The dansante is the first entertainment that public school playgrounds organized this year have undertaken. It will be under the direction of Miss Corinne Hachtman and Miss Irma Nicholas, who are in charge of dramatic work on the playgrounds. Miss Margaret Green has supervised the costume-making for the entertainment, all of the apparel and settings having been made by the children. The exhibit and performance will be repeated at Roosevelt High School Monday night.

The public school playgrounds have averaged a daily attendance of more than 12,000 children. Since their opening June 15, boys and girls on these grounds have engaged in 1300 interplayground games, including soft baseball, volleyball, center ball and basketball. Last year, the Board of Education opened 48 playgrounds. The demand for more grounds was apparent by the end of the summer and this year a staff of 275 workers and directors was employed to carry on the organization on the 74 grounds.

OPERA SEASON RETURN

DEPENDS ON THIS WEEK

Capacity Attendance Can Take Fast-Waning Term Out of a Deficit.

Directors of the Municipal Theater Association were told yesterday that the financial outcome of the Municipal Opera season depends on the attendance at the final performances of "Tales of Hoffman," the Offenbach opera with which the season is being brought to a close this week. A report showed that ticket sales for the first 11 weeks, ending last Sunday night, were greater than for a similar period last summer, but that the increase in income was not sufficient to offset an increase in expenses of nearly $25,000. The difference, however, can be made up by capacity audiences the remainder of the week.

Advance season orders for 1928 now amount to $67,306, an increase of $17,000 in the last two weeks. Under the rules of the association the 1927 season subscribers have until Sept. 1, to exercise an option on the same seat locations for next summer. More than 50 per cent have renewed their orders for next year and it is believed that another 10 per cent will do so before the first of next month.

soared eastward over the Mississippi River, en route from St. Louis to Paris. The craft is shown bathed in golden morning sunlight, while the stream far below is hazy with smoke. In the background is Eads Bridge, and to the left the new skyline of the metropolis.

Former Saloon Keeper Charles McCord Arrested in Zurich, Switzerland.

Charles McCord, who ran a tough saloon at 2100 Olive street until 1913 when he was put out of business by the excise commissioner because of frequent disturbances there, graduated into the ranks of confidence men and now is under arrest in Zurich, Switzerland, charged with swindling a visitor out of 150,000 florins, about $70,000.

He was identified as McCord through a picture and Bertillon measurements supplied by Bertillon Inspector Joyce of the St. Louis Police Department. Paris police arrested him and he was returned to Zurich. Police at Denver, Colo., and Atlanta, Ga., want McCord after the Swiss authorities are through with him.

The ex-saloon keeper jumped a $25,000 Federal bond at Long Beach, Cal., in 1922 after his arrest for swindling an Atlanta man of $25,000. He was also under indictment in Denver for confidence games.

BOY, 4, STRAPPED TO STAKE IN DOG KENNEL TWO WEEKS
Mother Says Relatives Forced Her to Do So to Keep Him From Wandering Away.

By the Associated Press. GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 25.—Strapped to a stake to prevent him from wandering away, 4-year-old Charles Garland was kept in a dog kennel for two weeks, it was revealed with the filing of a complaint charging cruelty, against Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Steinman, who live near Grapeville, Westmoreland County.

Roy Hallam, humane agent, found the child, suffering from exposure, in the kennel Tuesday. A dog was the child's only company.

Hallam found Mrs. Tillie Lovell, the child's mother, in the Steinman house. Mrs. Lovell said her husband had deserted her six months ago and she returned to the Steinmans, to whom she is related. They gave shelter to her and her 4-year-old son, Henry Lovell, but refused, she said, to have anything to do with the Garland child, her son by a former marriage.

The Steinmans forced her, she said, to keep the elder boy strapped to the post and would not permit her to bring him into the house. The boy had no attention aside from water and food she was able to carry to him surreptitiously, Mrs. Lovell said.

THIEVES INTERRUPTED AT ROBBERY TRACED BY CARD

While touring the district surrounding Magnolia Avenue Station at 2:30 a. m. today, Police Lieut. William O'Brien and a patrolman noticed an automobile with dimmed lights, parked in the rear of William Ladewig's dry goods store, at 3111 Cherokee street. When the policemen entered the alley they heard the footsteps of some one running away and found goods taken from the store valued at $350 in the machine and on the ground, outside a window which had been forced.

Through a card, they traced the ownership of the machine to Harry Price, 1230 Missouri avenue, whom they found in bed. He confessed, the officers said, that he and Paul LaRose of 2129 St. Vincent street, had been robbing the dry goods store. LaRose also admitted participation in the burglary, the officers reported.

OF 17 CHURCHES IN CANADA Prisoner in Ohio Penitentiary Says Same Gang That Worked in U. S. Started Fires.

By the Associated Press.
COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 23.—Attendants describing the burning of 17 Roman Catholic churches in Canada, including St. Anne's Shrine and the Cathedral in Quebec City, have been signed by Ray Marsden, convict in the Ohio Penitentiary here.

The statements are in the possession of Adellard Constantine, sergeant-detective on the Montreal Fire Commission, and J. R. Timmerman, State Fire Marshal of Ohio. Marsden signed the affidavits last night, and Detective Constantine left with them for Montreal.

The burning of the churches was the work of the same gang with which Marsden had been in the United States. Marsden told the Associated Press. Authorities are still searching for members of this gang.

ENDED LIFE IN OKAW RIVER

The body of a man, about 45 years old, who plunged into the Ohio River from the top of the Illinois Central Bridge at New Athens, Ill., Tuesday, was recovered last night. An empty acid bottle and a pocket knife were found on the bridge, and it is supposed the man swallowed poison before jumping. He started to swim toward the shore, but sank when 10 feet away.

A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned today. The body is held for identification. The man was neatly dressed, had stiff links

having received numerous threats.
The municipal council has strengthened the foreign settlement force.

Besides the consulate the leaflets also threatened to destroy "capitalist and imperialist institutions" of the United States in Shanghai. Thousands of leaflets printed in both Chinese and English and bearing the photographs of Sacco and Vanzetti were dropped from the tallest Chinese buildings within the international settlement.

protest meeting organized by the Sacco-Vanzetti committee, descended on the center of the city last night. Mounted police charged them with drawn swords and dispersed the assemblage. Mobs repeatedly gathered at various places keeping the police busy until midnight.

Anti-U. S. Move in Argentina Most Bitter in 20 Years.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1937.
BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 23.—The police are not lessening their vigilance in guarding American interests here, hoping to wear down anti-American agitators. The labor unions are attempting to organize a boycott on American goods. A merchant who allowed an American boycott poster to be put in his window was fined $125.

Taxi chauffeurs particularly want to boycott American motor cars, but are faced with the fact that 95 per cent of the automobiles in Argentina are American. They never have been a time in the last 20 years in South America when there has been such a bitter anti-American propaganda as that in Argentina during the past six months, yet the imports from America are $7,000,000 ahead of last year at this date. The boycott is directed particularly against American banks, yet the deposits are heavier than in July.

dered held for questioning by Postoffice inspectors. Alexander declared the sack was left there by a customer.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR URGES

PASSAGE OF FLOOD BILL

Put It Through, Then Quibble
Over Details, He Tells Tri-State Delegates.

By the Associated Press.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 23.—The importance of obtaining Federal aid for flood control was stressed here yesterday by Gov. John E.
Marble of Arkansas, at a meeting of the tri-state executive committee on flood control of the Mississippi River.

"Get the flood bill through. Not until then will it be time for quibbling and dissension over engineering methods and means of control," Marble declared.

"The Federal Government must bear the cost, not because the states are unwilling to do this, but because they are unable to bear the expense or any appreciable part thereof. If Federal aid is withheld the Mississippi River will continue to reign uncured," the Arkansas chief executive asserted.

Film Causes Disorder, Police Called

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Police reserves were called out last night to quiet a disturbance created in a

West Forty-second street theater, near Eighth avenue, when a number of patrons arose and denounced as "an insult to the Irish" a film that was being shown. A squad of police restored order. When quiet was restored the showing of the film was resumed. Trouble started during a scene depicting an Irish picnic, with the festivities turning into a free-for-all fight, in which bricks and clubs were used.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Frequent shifting of speculative accounts imparted widespread irregularity to the price movement in today's stock market. A sensational buying movement in General Motors issues, which accounted for one-fourth of the day's entire volume of business, was again the outstanding feature, but the violence of the advance led to heavy selling in a number of other leading industrial issues. Pools were again largely responsible for the advance, and the transfer of a stock exchange seat at the record high figure of $224,000 was regarded as a good omen by those working for higher stock prices.

There was no change in the credit situation, although the volume of brokers' loans was again a source of uneasiness in some quarters. Hopes of another cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rate failed to materialize, the 3½ per cent change being maintained. The transfer of a stock exchange seat at the record high figure of $224,000 was regarded as a good omen by those working for higher stock prices.

Days News Mixed.
The day's business news gave little cause for encouragement. Reports of a sharp increase in production at the Bethlehem Steel plants was offset by softening price tendencies and predictions of a sharp drop in the August unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation unless there was a decided turn for the better next week. Southern Pacific's July earnings report showed a drop of more than $1,500,000 in net operating income, compared with the same month last year.

Buying in Rails.
Although recent railroad traffic and earnings statements have been disappointing, good buying has been noted in some of the high grade carrier stocks. Atchafalaya was the leader, touching 200, the highest price ever recorded, for a gain of 4 points. Lackawanna responded to the announcement of the revised Lackawanna securities plan by climbing about 2 points but most of the other carriers were heavy.

Commercial Solvents B.
Gold stocks soared 16½ points to 267½ and the new stock, which was admitted to trading today, ran up from 17½ to 18½. Wright Aircraft, which sold as low as 24½ earlier in the year, spurred near 9 points to a new peak at 33. American Snuff, Bon Ami, Carpet, Dupont, Midland Steel Products preferred and Pullman, old stock and certificates, all advanced 4 to 6 points, while the Vulcan Detinning issues jumped about 12 points on old lot transactions.

Several Weak Spots.
Several new weak spots were uncovered during the session. Air Reduction and Paramount Famous Players, which had been about 5 points, fell to 4½ and 4 respectively, although the latter recovered part of its loss, while net declines of 2 points or more were recorded by American Locomotive, A. M. Byers, Brooklyn Edison, Case Threshing, Electric Auto Lite, Gable, all advanced 12 points on old lot transactions.

Exchange Market Dull.
Irregularly also characterized the commodity markets. Cotton sold down rather sharply on weak Liverpool cables and selling in the futures by the better that reports of boll weevil damage had been sufficiently discounted for the present, but prices rallied later, leaving final quotations 17 to 22 points net lower. Wheat prices also sold down at the opening, but better buying for export eventually brought about full recoveries in the active options. Coffee and sugar prices held firm.

Foreign Exchange trading was dull, with no important changes in rates. Demand sterling held around 84.85-11.16 and French francs around 3.91-4 cents.

LOANS TO BROKERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Loans to brokers and dealers in securities, as reported by the Federal Reserve bank on New York, declined $20,895,000 from $1,100,000,000 on the preceding week. The Federal Reserve bank announced today.

INDEPENDENCE III AND MISS AMERICA TO RACE AT DETROIT, SEPT.

GAR WOOD ACCEPTS DEF OF ED KOENIG

Speed Boats Will Meet in 15-Mile Match Event — Trophy Is Offered Winner of Contest.

Edwin C. Koenig, owner of Independence III, new high-speed power boat nearing completion here, announced today the receipt of a telegram from W. C. Edgerton, chairman of the Detroit Gold Cup Regatta Committee which is sponsoring the races at that city. September 2, 4, 5, and 6, communicating Gar Wood's acceptance of a match race at Detroit between his Miss America V and the local boat.

Koenig issued a challenge to Miss America V recently after announcing the construction of his new three-engined triple-screw hydroplane which he believes will be able to better the $33.2 miles an hour record of Wood's boat which also holds the Harmsworth international trophy.

The race will be held at Detroit at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Sept. 4. Koenig can win the one mile championship there by bettering the present record but the Harmsworth trophy will not be in competition. Commodore A. A. Schantz of the Detroit Gold Cup Committee has offered a Silver Service trophy to be awarded the winner of the one-half 15-mile race.

Wood stipulated in his acceptance that Independence III must first prove herself in a practice trial. Koenig has no fear in this connection, however, and feels confident that his boat will go considerably faster than the present record.

Independence III is receiving the finishing touches at the shops of Victor Barteau, local builder who formerly worked in Gar Wood's shops at Detroit. The last bit of construction will be rushed today and Koenig expects to launch the boat tomorrow for a test between the Eds and Free bridges on the Mississippi.

Wood will be at the wheel of his Miss America V and Koenig also a pilot of many years' experience, will drive his boat. The local entry is 23 feet long by 7 feet 9-inch beam and is driven by three Hispano motors totaling 1050 horsepower which are capable of 3100 revolutions a minute. The motors are capable of developing a maximum speed of 105 miles an hour, according to Koenig's calculations, and other natural difficulties are likely to reduce that speed to 90 miles in racing trim.

HELD AND EVANS IN CLOSE MATCH; JONES HOLDS LEAD

and halve the hole with Johnson in par 4.

The misadventure did not bother Jones' game on the next two holes, as he scored par.

Held One Up on Evans.

Chick Evans, Chicago, scoring close to par was one down at the half way mark to Eddie Held, St. Louis, who took the last hole where Chick pushed his drive to a clump of young Christmas trees and had to shoot out sideways and take five.

Evans lost the first two holes to Held but squared the match at the sixth and was one up at the turn. He retained that lead by halving six holes in a row in par, but dropped the fifteenth to a par to be square. Evans won the sixteenth in perfect figures, but lost the seventeenth to a birdie and the eighteenth by his roaming to the pine copes.

Francis Quimet, Boston, by tallying par 72, gained a lead of 3 up over Phillips Finlay, New York, who took 77, while Harry Legg of the home club won square with Richard MacKenzie, Washington, both scoring fair 76s.

Held Starts 2 Up and Has Lead Over Evans After 18

Eddie Held won the first two holes from Chick Evans, the first with a birdie, where Chick's putt would not go down and the second with a par when Evans took three putts. They halved the third in par.

Evans squared the match with Held by winning the fifth with a birdie three and the sixth with a par 2. Held being wide of the green and in trouble, and taking five on the 190-yarder.

Evans won the 223-yard eighth with a fair four, while Held took five and after halving the long ninth in par, Evans was one up at the first turn.

Evans, being away on the treacherous ninth green, barely missed the 25-foot putt and laid Held a half stroke, which Eddie just missed curling around. Evans was out in 34, while Held took 36, mostly due to his five on the eighth, where his tee shot was under some trees and his second was short in a trap.

Halving the First Three Holes of the second nine in perfect figures. Evans still was one up at the twelfth in Held. Evans was one under four at that point.

Held squared his match with

Tunney's Tactics.

GUESSING what battle plan James Joseph Tunney will follow in his second fight with Jack Dempsey is interesting the "master minds" among the heavyweight fight clairvoyants. Whether he will renew the hit-and-run offensive that carried him to the title last year, or whether he will make a bid for popularity by meeting Dempsey half way is being discussed.

Pride of place, it is thought by some, will compel the champion to carry the fight, instead of giving way in front of the attack of his foe.

Among those who have raised the question is Mr. J. B. Sheridan, veteran sports authority, who observed fights and fighters for many years and wrote about them interestingly. In a letter to the Post-Dispatch Mr. Sheridan writes in part:

Can the champion pugilist run away, back up, fight defensively while defending an attack upon his title?

Would not a draw or a close decision be a defeat for the champion?

My idea is that the champion must carry the fight to the challenger if the challenger does not carry it to him, and show complete superiority or else lose, morally, if not actually.

The Champion's Duties.

TIME was when a champion would have scorned to run, one might recall in answer to Mr. Sheridan's letter. In those days the championship carried less money and more honor.

Today, with the title worth $2,000,000 to the man who can keep it two or three years, caution dilutes sentiment. It is better to fight and run away than to lose the fight and the $2,000,000. The stake is so great that one might almost say it justified the means.

Tunney Said It.

AS TO the course Tunney is to pursue, we have his own word, to a Post-Dispatch representative, a few months ago. Tunney was asked if he felt that the title carried with it an obligation to force the fighting, and other natural difficulties are likely to reduce that speed to 90 miles in racing trim.

"That is foolish," Tunney replied. "I have my own method of fighting. It has been successful. I adapt my style to my opponent. In Dempsey's case, I chose the right course. Why should I change it?"

"The fact that I now hold the title will in no way effect my generalship in the next Dempsey fight. I will employ the way that seems most certain to win. And after all, to win is what I am out there for."

"Pride goeth before destruction," evidently means something to Tunney. Holding the title is not a mere matter of pride with him.

Could Afford It.

GENE could afford a little extravagance. He will have earned something like $1,500,000 from his title fights, in 12 months. It must be said in justice that Tunney's method is perfectly fair, justifiable and even to be admirable from a tactical viewpoint. But it will never make him popular.

Classify Dempsey.

MR. SHERIDAN in his letter also discusses where Dempsey should be classed, as compared to the great old timers. Of this he writes:

He was interested in a reply made to you some time ago in which you stated Dempsey for him.

Some 16 years ago I made a long study of pugilists, 1716 to 1911.

I found the stars to rate:

1. J. A. Jeffries.

2. Peter Jackson.

3. Jack Johnson.

4. Gentleman Jackson, England, 1890-1915.

5. Fitzsimmons—Dempsey.

Jeff was not an attractive or aggressive fighter, but the way in which he covered up, invulnerable, his defenses and power made him practically unassailable. He'd have had Dempsey hit the top of his head or shatter his teeth in 10 to 15 left-handed blows to the body.

Peter Jackson was the boxer-fighter or excellence, the best mentality I found among fighters, a beautiful straight blitzer of the mass school, most left. His battles with Corbett and Sullivan were never won in combat, show his greatness. Corbett and Sullivan, Corbett and Sullivan, Sullivan defeated Corbett and Sullivan.

I believe Jack Johnson was cleverest of all, a mighty fighter, but so "shaky" as to be unconditioned that I can't rate him greater.

Gentleman Jackson had high personal character, good mentality, was a big man, 6 feet 2 inches, 200 pounds and a noble fighter. Of the early fighters he was the only really good man. Sayers, Belcher, etc., were 100 to 170-pound men, too light for present day heavies.

Could Dempsey beat Fitz? I'd say the man who got the first damn punch punch would win.

Sullivan never could use his left. His haymaker was dangerous. After 1883 John L. never was anywhere near condition. Kilrain was a big, slow live-wire, a true gab of the ring. Mitchell had great courage and a glove on Corbett's face. He couldn't whip Mitchell who weighed 140 when they first met, 165 at Kilrain. Mitchell had great courage and was fairly clever; but was fair and soft and round like a girl.

As to Mr. Sheridan's summary of pugilists, we agree that Jeffries probably was the most difficult of all heavies to whip during his fighting days.

Peter Jackson couldn't whip Corbett and probably, therefore, could not have whipped Fitzsimmons. Jack Johnson beat him. "cheese champion," Tommy Burns, to gain his title, and lost it to another "cheese champion"—Jess Willard.

Gentleman Jackson is out of the picture, since he flourished before gloved fights. And Bob Fitzsimmons was too light in our estimation, to face a puncher of Dempsey's power.

But it's all opinion; and any man's guess may be as good as the next man's. In putting the seal of approval on Dempsey it is the fact that he combines more essentials of greatness than any rival but one which leads one to pick him as No. 2 on the all-time fighting team.

Bill Tilden Wins 3 Matches in Newport Tourney

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 25.—

After defeating Kenneth Appel of Princeton, 6-0, 6-2, today, William T. Tilden won from Berkeley Bell of Dallas, Tex., sixteenth in the national ranking, to enter the quarter-finals of the invitation tennis tournament at the famous Newport Casino. Tilden downed Bell at 6-3, 6-0, outguessing the fighting Texas youngster with beautifully placed drives.

Next after Tilden to enter the quarter-finals was Francis T. Hunter, his doubles partner and Davis Cup teammate. After defeating M. H. Partridge, Dartmouth College star, 6-2, 6-4, Hunter turned his burning drives against Gregory Mangin, 19-year-old Newark, N. J. player, and won at 6-1, 6-4.

Frank Shields, 17-year-old national junior champion, also entered the quarter-finals by defeating Cranston Holman, blonde star of the Leland-Stanford University team, in a hard-fought match, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

John Hennessy, veteran Hoosier, faded out of the picture in surprisingly rapid fashion, through a 6-1, 6-2 defeat by John Van Ryn, Princeton's best player, in the third round.

Belgian Champion Loses. Jean Washer, tennis champion of Belgium, met unexpected defeat today in the second match he ever played in this country. He lost to Watson Washburn at 6-2, 6-4, in the third round.

Showing unfamiliarity with grass court play, Washer narrowly escaped defeat by Howe Bancroft, California, junior, in his first match here, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

Bronson to Second Tunney In Championship Bout; Dempsey's Work Is Private

Titleholder to Start for Chicago Next Wednesday, According to Present Plans — Fans Rush to Buy $5 Seats — 2500 Police to Be on Duty at Stadium.

By the Associated Press.

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Jimmy Bronson, one of Gene Tunney's handlers while he was fighting with the Marine Corps in France, will be in the champion's corner when he meets Jack Dempsey at Chicago. Bronson was one of Tunney's seconds in the title fight last year at Philadelphia.

Bronson's selection, the departure of Paul Cavaller, a sparring partner, the return to camp of Eddie Eagan, former amateur heavyweight champion, and a visit of another group of the champion's friends marked a round of leisure in camp yesterday. Gene took his guests on a picnic to Whitaker Lake, near an old Indian hunting camp. Aside from seven miles on the road the champion took things easy, abstaining entirely from any boxing.

The arrival of Dave Shad, California middleweight and Dempsey's sparring partner, was the signal for the opening of activities at the Lincoln Fields camp.

The program the remainder of the week calls for road work, shadow boxing, hitting the bag and the dummies and similar exercises, inasmuch as Manager Leo P. Flynn has ruled against any sparring until next week.

Dempsey's extra poundage was visible yesterday, but he perspired freely and appeared well pleased after the day's work. A Wisconsin lumberjack, Leo Poppo of Stevens Point, gave Jack a workout on the mat, the heavyweight wrestling a few rounds with the former titleholder.

The ticket sale for the Soldier Field fight Sept. 22 moved forward briskly. A big rush was on for the $5 seats which led Tex Rickard and his nominal ally, George F. Getz, to scout a possible scheme where in the $5 boys would rush the higher seats, and culminated in the Chief of Police Michael Hughes announcing that 2500 blue coats with night sticks would be on duty to maintain order.

French Net Stars Win 2 Matches From Japanese

Cochet Defeats Ohta, 6-3, 6-2—La Coste Downs Harada 6-1, 6-1—6-2.

By the Associated Press.
BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 22.—Henri Cochet of France, holder of the British championship, defeated Yoshiro Ohta, Japan, 6-3, 6-2, in the first singles match opening the Davis Cup intercontinental finals at the Longwood Cricket Club here today.

The match went easily to the Frenchman. He outplayed Ohta in every department of the game. The Japanese was unable to reach Cochet's placements or return his service effectively. He seemed daunted by the Frenchman's game.

In the second match, Rene La Coste defeated Takeichi Harada, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYER HURT IN FIRST GRID PRACTICE OF SEASON

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Aug. 22.—Edward McCauley, 15 years old, senior in the Corns (Ark.) High School, was seriously injured in his first football practice at Corns yesterday. He was thrown against a fire plug, located on the school campus, and received compound fracture of the right leg. He was brought to a hospital here last night.

GALICIA SOCCER TEAM WILL TOUR ABROAD

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The Galicia soccer eleven, composed largely of Spaniards, has chartered a steamer to take players to Spain next year for a tour that will include games with virtually all the leading teams of that country. The sailing has been set for May 27. The Galicia team won the championship of the International League last year without the loss of a game and has made a fine showing this year.

Wood, Md., defeated Miss Edith Tough, Berkeley, Cal., and Miss Ruth Bailey, St. Louis, 5-7, 6-1.

THEVENOW WORKS OUT WITH BROWNS; HOPES TO AID THE CARDINALS

INJURED LEG IMPROVING, HE ASSERTS
Shortstop Will Take Things Easy for a Time, Confining Efforts to Batting and Pep Games.

Tommy Thevenow, brilliant Cardinal shortstop, who suffered a fractured ankle during the June games at the Longwood Cricket Club here today.

The match went easily to the Frenchman. He outplayed Ohta in every department of the game. The Japanese was unable to reach Cochet's placements or return his service effectively. He seemed daunted by the Frenchman's game.

In the second match, Rene La Coste defeated Takeichi Harada, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2.

BACK IN UNIFORM

TOMMY THEVENOW.

Thevenow, right now, is far from being himself. He still limps and favors the injured leg. He thinks all this will come around with some more practice. He says he has confined his efforts to pep games and batting.

"I have worked out for the last few days," said Silent Tommy today. "My leg is coming around and I have to take things easy at present, but I hope to be able to increase my pace until the club starts home."

Was Severe Blow to Team.
"I hope to be of some assistance," Bob O'Farrell when the club returns home for the final pennant drive.

The loss of the shortstop was one of the worst blows the world champions have suffered during the 1927 pennant race. Since Thevenow went on the shelf, four men have been tried with varying success. The men were George Towner, Heinie Schulte, Lester Bell and Frankie Frisch in one game.

If Thevenow is able to perform as he is capable of doing in the final drive, it will mean much to O'Farrell and his men. It will mean that Frisch will be able to take care of second base and not have to worry about the shortstop. When Tommy is in condition, there is none better.

Cards Will Be There.
And Thevenow is one who adds to the thick of the fight for the 1927 pennant.

"We are not out of it by a long way," asserts Tommy. "The Cardinals will be right in there to the finish. And remember those four straight defeats for the Cubs, two of them coming in the ninth inning, when the enemy came from behind as the Phillies did yesterday, will not help the troupe of Joe McCarthy a bit. Those seven games between the Cardinals and Cubs early next month will mean much."

Thevenow also thinks that the Pirates, with a bunch of double-headers facing them, will have tough sledding.

CHICAGO YOUTH WINS JUNIOR RIFLE MATCH

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 22.—Bradford Wiles, a 12-year-old youth from Chicago, yesterday took off first honors in the junior rifle matches with 287 out of a possible 300. Philip Ronfor, 16, Cincinnati, O., was second with 285.

Jack Critchfield, 14, Shreve, O., and James Hurt, Indianapolis, were tied with 280 each. The boys shot at 50 feet, 30 shots each, in prone position.

Today competitors in the junior matches will shoot again in the prone position and in the afternoon in sitting position. Friday they will fire standing, and results of all three positions will be used in tabulating standings.

In a practice match the United States Infantry pistol team, defeated the Toledo Police team in a four-man match, 1028 to 1003.

Fans in Widely Separated Parts of Country Agree on Four Babe Ruth Team Stars

Picks From Followers in Colorado, Kentucky and Indiana Show There Is Widespread Interest in 1927 All-America Club Competition.

Rules of Babe Ruth Contest

The contest will close at midnight Aug. 31.

The object of the contest is to select an all-star team for the National and American Leagues which will most closely agree with one which Babe Ruth will select, aided by a committee of leading baseball writers in the major leagues cities.

Only ONE team may be appointed by each reader.

It must consist of 10 players (two pitchers and eight men for the other positions).

Take your time in making your pick. No corrections may be made once an entry is sent in.

A short explanation of the reasons for your choice MUST accompany your entry. The reader whose team is the same or nearest Ruth's selection and is accompanied by the best letter giving reasons for the choice will be declared the winner. The letter must not exceed 200 words.

A player may be placed in a position other than his regular one, providing he has occupied the alternate position in one or more games of the current season.

Players must be selected on the basis of their playing during the 1927 season only. Do not take into consideration records made in previous seasons.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself for his team.

Trophies of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded first, second and third places respectively. The winner of the capital trophy will also receive a ball and bat autographed by Babe Ruth.

Mail selections to Babe Ruth Contest Editor, care the Post-Dispatch.

Whether baseball still is the national game in the United States in fact as well as in name, has been the basis for considerable discussion in the past several months. Some contend that golf, tennis and football have combined to occupy the niche in the mind of the public that baseball has held.

The theory is in error, if the thousands of letters received by the Post-Dispatch in the Babe Ruth All-America team contest are a true criterion. The letters show that persons in every section of the country are interested in baseball.

Three all-star teams, submitted by fans in different sections of the country, form an interesting study for the followers of major league cities, inasmuch as the letters show why certain players are favored over others, on knowledge gained by following the teams only through the daily news columns. The letters are from Frank M. Whalen, of Deertrail, Colo.; Harry Fields Dezonis, of Fulton, Ky.; and Harold Yepsen, Vincennes, Ind.

The three have chosen the same pitchers for their all-star teams in Charley Root of the Cubs and Ted Lyons of the White Sox.

Gehrig, at first base, is another player on whom the three agree, while Pie Traynor is the third sacker for whom the three widely separated fans have cast a unanimous choice.

Two of the three agree on a different center fielder and a different catcher.

Gardner Cup the Prize.

The Gardner Cup will again be in competition, to be awarded to the winner of the championship flight, and trophies have been provided for the runner-up, the winner and runner-up in Class A, and the low medalist of the qualifying round.

The best 32 scores of the qualifying round on Tuesday will be paired in the championship flight. First and second round matches will be played Wednesday. The third round and semifinals also will be completed Thursday, and the 36-hole final match will be played Friday.

Herbert Lorenz of Sunset who has won the tournament for the last two years will enter this year to defend his title. He will not be 21 years old until late in the month.

Applecross Is Barred

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Applecross, frisky thoroughbred owned by O. L. Foster, has been barred from further racing at the Hawthorne track. The horse behaved so badly at the post in the sixth race yesterday that officials disqualified him for future entries.

DAFFY OVER DOGS.

ARK! Hark! at Handan Park.

The greyhounds may be racing; While many frown and say in town, There'll be no rabbit chasing.

They build a track and for the jack A flock of guys go gunning; Each dog, they say, must have its day, But now at night they're running.

No real live hare is ever there To run them for the money; With sundry shots of kilowatts They charge the flying bunny.

While it is fun to watch them run— And who are we to dim it?— The canine race is out of place Within the city's limit.

QUITE SO.

The Cards' recent record in Philadelphia would indicate that old "Pete" had safely negotiated that home-coming hazard.

THE Cards in Philly didn't slip. As on a certain former trip; Which demonstrates a batting bee Is better than a batting spree.

GOING UP.

See where Phil Ball hopped off in his Ryan plane, the "Spirit of the Browns," for a tour of the Eastern cities. He has nothing on the Browns, who have been doing a little soaring on their own account lately.

We understand that Phil has deferred the writing of his book entitled "Us" until he succeeds in making a nonstop flight to Pen-nan-tiville.

The druggists want carte blanche in dispensing liquor, the same as they have for safety razors, sandwiches, soup and other drugs.

Terris, Floored 3 Times in First, Defeats McGraw

Both Battlers Are Punished in 10-Round Bout at Ebbets Field.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Fighting up from a sensational first round in which he was knocked down three times, once for the count of nine, Sid Terris, New York contender for the lightweight championship, won a decision from Phil McGraw of Detroit in their 10-round contest at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, last night.

The fight was fast throughout both battlers taking terrific punishment. When they shook hands after the final bell both were dog-tired. Terris had a cut over his left eye.

McGraw felled Terris in the first round with a left hook to the jaw a moment after apologizing to him for hitting him as they broke from a clinch. Terris struggled to his feet to take a right to the jaw which kept him down for a count of seven. Back on his feet again, another right to the jaw sent him down for a count of five. He hung on for the rest of the round.

In the second Terris came back to rock McGraw with numerous rights to the head. Through the next rounds it was a terrific battle. McGraw seemingly out on his feet several times.

The decision was tooed a little, although the crowd had seemed to be with Terris.

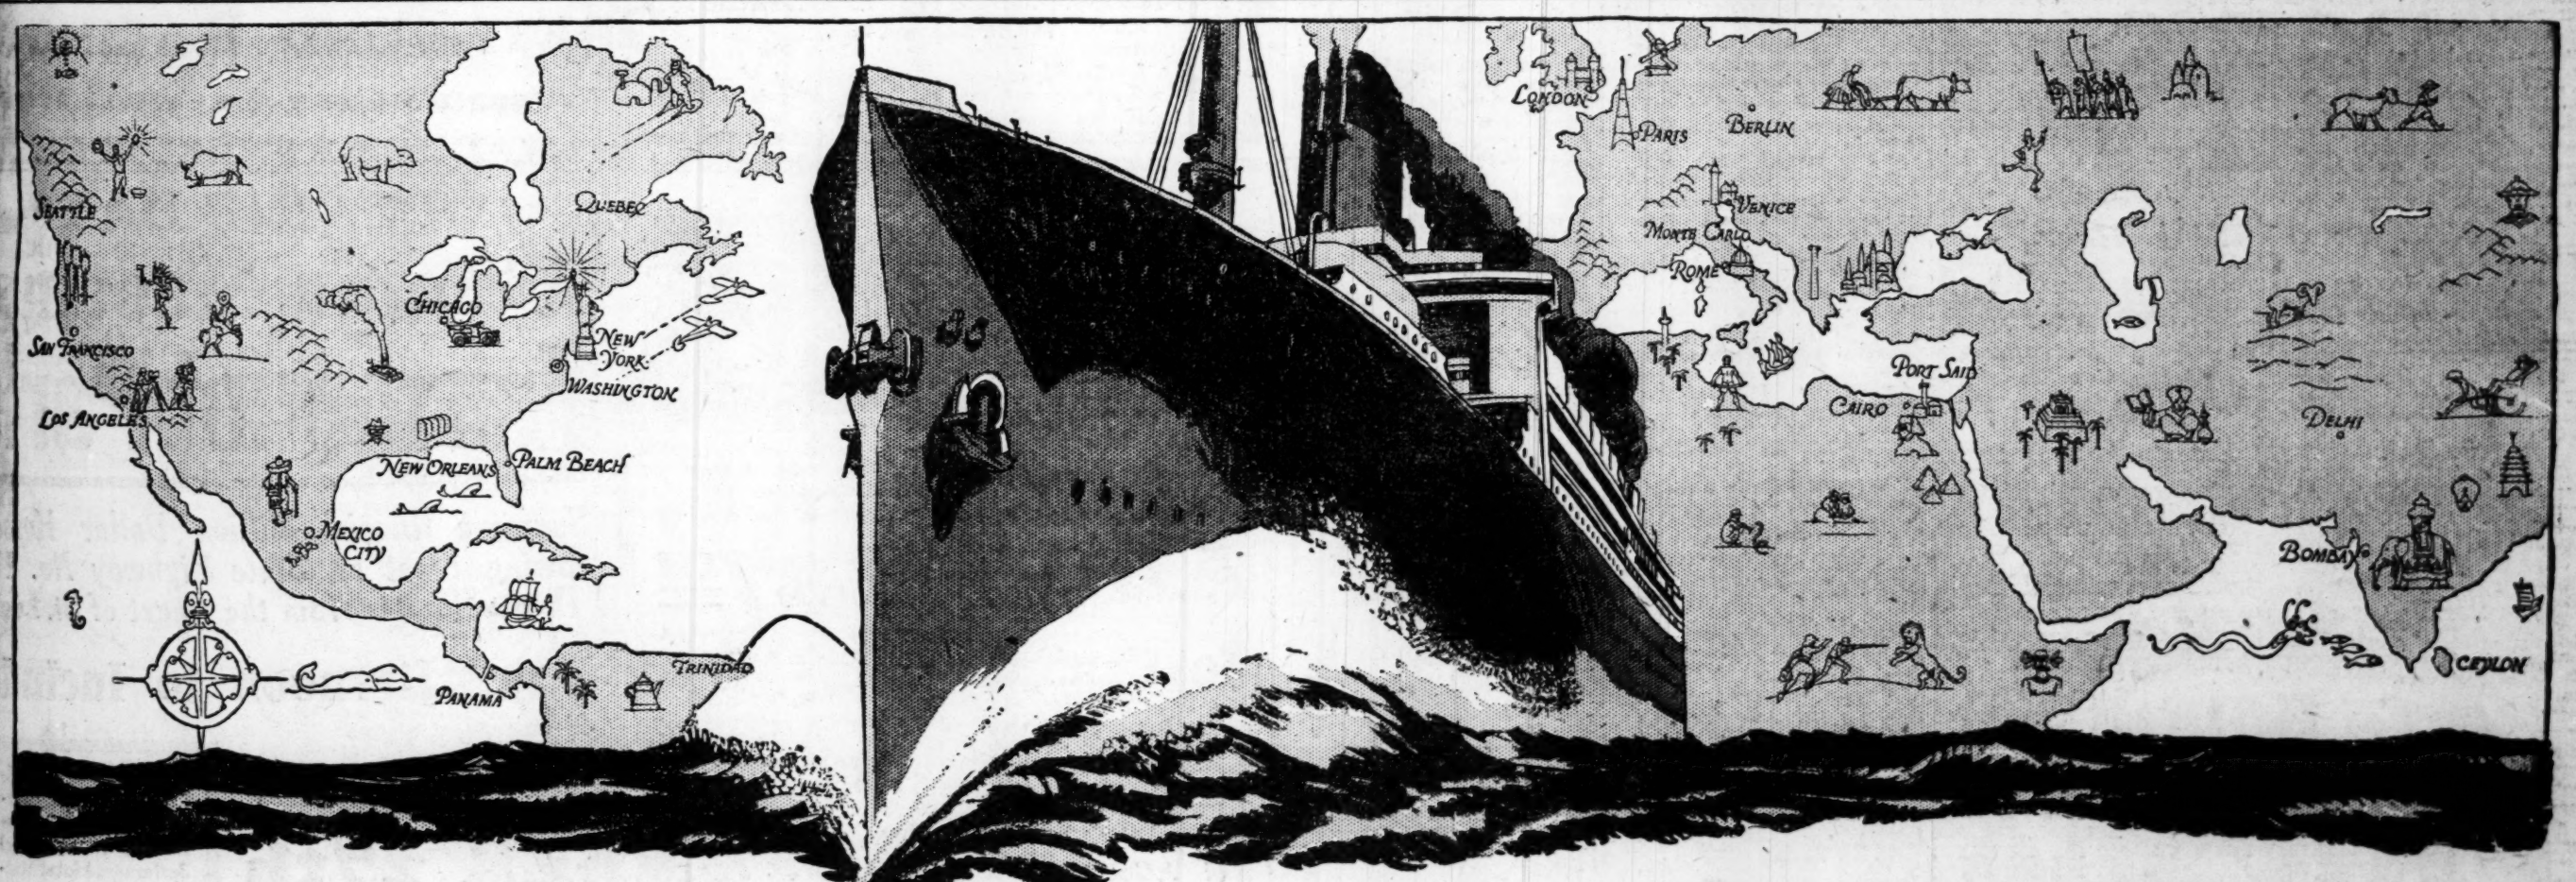

One judge and the referee decided Terris was the victor and the other judge gave his vote to McGraw. Some considered that winning the battle made Terris the logical contender for the lightweight crown of Sammy Mandell, McGraw weighed 124; Terris 131.

Cue Tourney Results.

Sawtelle (25) shut out McAuder (20), 25 to 0 yesterday, in the feature of the red ball billiard tournament at Peterson's. Sawtelle had a high run of 5, McAuder 2.

The only match today will be a semifinal engagement at 3 p. m., matching Gibbons and Christy.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU WARNS AGAINST PEDDLERS

Charges Door-to-Door Salesmen and Saleswomen Are Selling Imitation Irish Lace.

The Better Business Bureau has issued a warning against door-to-door salesmen and saleswomen, speaking with Irish brogue and Scottish burr, who have been selling imitation lace at high prices, representing it to be goods made by "the folks in the old country."

"Housewives who are offered articles of this kind should immediately get in touch with the Better Business Bureau or the nearest police station," the bureau warns. "Peddlers often offer rank imitations of genuine furs, imported rugs and other merchandise as well as lace."

"This type of peddling is an organized business, and some of the peddlers picked up in St. Louis have told us there are more than 500 crews working this gag all over the country. We found a letter in the possession of one peddler offering him imitation 'seal skin' coats at $35, to be resold at $200 and $300 a garment on representations that they had been smuggled into this country."

POLICE JUDGE DISCHARGES OWNER OF LOUD SPEAKER

Now Merchants Who Object to Broadcasting of Ball Scores Will Seek Injunction.

James J. Stone, proprietor of the Stone Electrical Co., 714 Pine street, arrested in June on a charge of creating a general nuisance by broadcasting baseball scores, was discharged today by Police Judge Rosecan sustained a motion to quash.

The complainants, Bert Keene, proprietor of a bookstore at 717 Pine street, and Udo Gruenewald, owner of a stationery store at 716 Pine, said they would seek to enjoin Stone in Circuit Court, following the example of an Olive street store which enjoined a store across the street.

Last year Stone had a small loudspeaker, and the radio fans blocked the doorway of his store. This year he had two large loudspeakers, mounted above his store and pointed in different directions. The result is, Keene and Gruenewald say, that the listeners stand farther away and congest traffic in front of neighboring stores.

GALE SWEEPS NOVA SCOTIA,

WRECKS MANY SMALL CRAFT

Ice and Wind Hamper Communication, Motorists Reporting Damage Outside Cities.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 23.—Stranded and sunken vessels and motor boats and a property damage estimated at many thousands of dollars were left today in the wake of a gale that beat Nova Scotia during the night.

Heavy rains and winds seriously hampered all lines of communication. Halifax was cut off from virtually all points in the maritime. Reports of damage outside the city were brought in by motorists.

The wind attained a velocity of 48 miles an hour. Fears were entertained at one time for the Swedish-American steamer Stockholm, which sailed for New York from here with a large passenger list, but word received from her agents said she was outriding the gale.

By the Associated Press.
NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 23.—The British steamer Van Dyck yesterday reported the sighting of a large derelict vessel in latitude 33.57 north and longitude 70.24 west. The derelict was awash and there was no sign of life aboard her.

The Norwegian steamer Dampen, New York to Norfolk, was caught in the storm of Tuesday and her skipper reported that he had never experienced a worse blow.

The American steamer West Amersburg, from New Orleans, headed for Hampton Roads to escape the storm, but battled two days with the elements before making port.

Iso-Vis Body Unchanged

The letter below tells a story of motor oil performance that is no longer unusual. Iso-Vis has set a new standard.

Whatever oil is used it is good practice to check the oil every one hundred miles and keep the crankcase at least three-quarters full.

With Iso-Vis in the crankcase you need change the oil only once in a thousand miles. If your car is new and equipped with an effective oil filtering device, draining the crankcase once in two thousand miles is sufficient.

Iso-Vis gives such unusual performance because it is a constant viscosity motor oil. It does not lose its body. The writer of the following letter is one of the many thousands of motorists in the Middle West who have discovered this amazing and significant fact.

Attention Mr. C. W. Clemens

My Dear Sir:

Having charge of the Radio Department of this company, am on the outside most of the time. Travel through the country most of the time in all kinds of weather and over every kind of road. Recently I purchased a new Overland "Whippet" car, and since purchasing it has covered 2,000 miles.

It is in this connection that I am writing you. I want to tell you of the remarkable service I have secured in using your Iso-Vis Oil, having changed it after covering these 2,000 miles to find that it had not changed in body, and only showed one quart less than the original fill. All the time during this mileage the pressure gauge never changed, which speaks very highly for this wonderful product.

I will be very glad to recommend Iso-Vis to anyone that might desire information.

Cordially,
L. G. Eaton

It is a big satisfaction to examine Iso-Vis at the end of a 2,000-mile trip and find the body as good as it was at the beginning. It is definite proof that the motor has been protected from wear and tear—cushioned with oil—perfectly lubricated all the way. Your motor will have a longer and a smoother life if you use Iso-Vis.

'REDS' IN MEXICO MENACE AMERICANS

18 U. S. Citizens Barricade Homes When Amparo Coal Mines Near Guadalupe Are Seized.

By the Associated Press.
CHERBOURG, France, Aug. 26.—One person was killed and several were wounded this evening in an attempt by Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrators to reach the American consulate.

Police reported the manifestation under control, but soldiers were called out in case of further emergency.

Americans Barricade Homes as Mexican Reds Seize Mines.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Seizure of the Amparo Co.'s mines near Guadalupe, Mexico, by a "Red" syndicate with consequent danger to the lives of 18 Americans barricaded in their homes at the mines was reported to the State Department today by Consul Satterwhite at Guadalupe.

Scatterwhite reported that following seizure of the mine all foreigners left Piedrabuena and Matamoros villages close to the mines, but refugees arriving at Guadalupe reported that 18 Americans and 11 British subjects were besieged in their homes by members of the "Red" syndicate.

The State Department was informed by the American Charge d'Affaires in Mexico City that he had asked the Mexican Government to provide suitable military protection for the Americans at the Amparo mines. The Department also said that Aug. 21 it had been informed by its consul at Guadalupe that labor agitators were attempting to arouse workers at the Amparo mines to take action against the foreigners at the mines in case Sacco and Vanzetti should be executed.

One Arrested in Clash at Bier of Sacco and Vanzetti.
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Miss Mary Donovan, secretary of the Sacco-Vanzetti Defense Committee, was arrested last night during a melee over placards amid the flowers at the bier of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. She was accused of obstructing fast traffic and was to be arraigned in court today.

The placards were torn up. Doors, windows and hisses came from thousands outside a funeral establishment in the North End. The Italian section, as Miss Donovan was taken five blocks to a station by two policemen. She was released on $25 bail.

One of the placards read: "See what I did to those anarchists—Judge Thayer." The reference was to an out-of-court remark attributed in affidavits to the judge who presided at the trial at which Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted of murder.

Two other placards contained excerpts from the men's letters or speeches.

Undertaker Forbade Placards. The undertaker forbade the placards to be displayed and when the police took action the placards were torn to shreds as Miss Donovan struggled.

Gardner Jackson, another member of the defense committee, who was arrested, said that placards had been taken to the undertaking rooms at the request of photographers; that they were not used because of the undertaker's refusal, and that he trouble developed when a photographer asked to see them.

Just before the melee members of the defense committee, including Powers Hapgood, arrested several times in pre-execution demonstrations, had kissed the brows of Sacco and Vanzetti. The caskets were draped with red.

Thousands unable to view the bodies last night had to defer their visit till today. After the undertaking establishment was closed four comrades stood watch all night.

Many of those who passed through the room in groups of 20 gave open demonstration of their grief. Men and women wept.
